REPORTS AMERICANS ON SUNK BRITISHER

FOSTER-PARENTS ENLIST POLICE TO SEARCH FOR GIRL THOUGHT KIDNAPED

LAURALDA RYAN MISSING SINCE NOON ON SUNDAY

Parents Ask Police to Look for a Heavy Man with a Black Mustache

SHE HAD BEEN ACCOSTED

Man Had Asked Her Several Times to Go With Him to See Father in Milwaukee

Kidnapped, so her foster parents believe, by a short man with a black mustache, Lauralda Ryan, 14, is being sought by the La Crosse police. Lauralda has been missing since shortly after Sunday noon, when she left the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ryan, 211 Caladonia street, for St. James' Sunday school. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan spent most of the night searching for the lost child at the homes of her playmates, and did not call in the police until Monday morning, after every effort of their's had ended in failure.

No trace of the little girl has been seen since she left the Sunday school. Her comrades do not remember having seen her.

Man Had Stopped Her

The dark-mustached man, for whom the parents warned the police to look for is connected by them with the disappearance of the little girl because of repeated stories which the child had told her mother within the last month, of having been accosted by this individual with attempts to persuade her to go away with him. She had not been frightened by the man, her foster father said Monday, and her parents had made light of her stories.

Lauralda was large and well developed for her age. Here is the description her foster mother wrote out for the TRIBUNE:

Blue eyes, light brown hair, weight about 115 or 120 pounds. Wore silver, grey plush coat with black fur collar, white satin hat with feathers all white; blue pleated skirt and white silk waist; black lace shoes with white ribbed soles and heels.

Pictures given to the police by the Ryans show the little girl to have been pretty, still in the age of knee-length dresses, and below the medium height.

Never Knew Parents

"We adopted Lauralda from the Sparta state school twelve years ago last January," said Mr. Ryan Monday afternoon. "We did not learn who her parents were, and she never knew that she was not our own daughter."

"About four weeks ago she came home one night from the Dome theater and said a man had dropped her on the Rose street viaduct. He had seized her hand, and told her that the people she lived with were not her parents. He told her that if she would come with him to Milwaukee he would give her a better time and take her to her father. He told her that her real name was Lauralda Leahy."

"Lauralda told her mother about it the next morning. She asked if we were not her real parents, and we made light of it. Several times since then she has come home and said the man had spoken to her again."

Lauralda described him as being short and heavily built. She said he had a black mustache and wore brown clothes. She thought his clothes were of good quality."

Parents Never Saw

Mr. Ryan said that he never seen the man in question, nor had his wife. The only thing they knew of the man, he said, was what Lauralda had told them. She never told them, he said, anything about the man's age, although they gathered that he was a man of approximately middle age.

"Lauralda was not afraid of him," he said. "She always has been a daring girl, and very bright in school. We have never had any trouble with her at all. She was one of the best and nicest little girls you could find anywhere."

KATHRYN, N. D., Oct. 30.—Fifty thousand dollars loss was sustained Monday in a fire that destroyed one bank, a general store, a hardware store, a drug store and a telephone exchange.

THEATRE SERVICE RAISES $1,000 FOR THE CITY MISSION

Mission Leader from the Twin Cities Tells 600 People That No Mission Is More Efficient

PASTORS ADD WORDS

Response Is Liberal when George H. Gordon Asks for Donations

In an enthusiastic union meeting of down-town Protestant churches, held at the La Crosse theater Sunday morning, and another union meeting of North La Crosse churches at the Tabernacle church in the evening, $1,000 was raised for the La Crosse Rescue Mission.

The meetings opened a three-day campaign for the rescue mission, which will start on Tuesday. Members of the mission board of directors will canvass all business men in the city in an endeavor to secure adequate funds for the institution to operate on during the coming year.

Pastors' Mission

Peter MacFarlane, superintendent of the St. Paul Rescue Mission, and well known through several visits here, told an audience of 600 La Crosse church people at the theater Sunday that he had never seen a more efficient mission in the United States than that conducted in La Crosse. His address was a stirring one, in which the mission man gave personal experiences of the good brought about by city missions everywhere. He pleaded for La Crosse to give its support to the local institution, and when donations were asked for by Attorney George H. Gordon, who presided, the gifts were liberal.

The following La Crosse pastors gave short talks: Professor H. N. Sherwood, acting pastor of the First Baptist church; Rev. J. L. Pangloss, of the German Methodist church; Dr. E. C. Dixon, pastor of the First First Methodist church; and Rev. J. S. Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. County Judge John Brindley commended the work of the local mission in a short address.

Mr. MacFarlane will remain here Monday and will address a meeting at the rescue mission at 8 o'clock Monday evening.

POLICE SHOOTER OUT OF JAIL ON BONDS OF $3,000

Fred Bauch, aged North La Crosse man who barricaded himself in the barn at the rear of his home following a quarrel with his family, and who shot Patrolman Tom McDonough in the face when the patrolman attempted to arrest him, was released from county jail on Monday morning.

Bauch held Chief of Police John B. Weber and several policemen at bay with a small rifle for ten minutes. Several shots barely missed the chief and his aides. He was finally subdued by a shot from a riot gun, which sent several bullets into his leg.

He lay in a hospital room near McDonough's for several weeks. When released from the hospital he was placed in custody and has remained at the county jail since.

He will be tried on a charge of attempted murder before Judge John Brindley during the term of court commencing Monday, November 13.

SIDNEY ANDERSON IN NARROW ESCAPE IN AUTO SMASH

First District Congressman Sidney Anderson narrowly escaped serious injury here Monday when an automobile in which he is touring Olmstead county for political meetings, collided head-on with a car whose driver escaped, unidentified. Anderson's car was badly damaged.

BAIL JUMPER OF "RECKLESS SIX" HOME WITH PLAGUE

"Red" Cook Returns and Prosecutor Gives Him Liberty Because of Illness

AUNT INTERCEDES FOR HIM

Re-appears More Than a Year After Being Bound Over for Fight on the Island

"Red" Cook, comrade of "Happy" Green and member of the original "Reckless Six," who jumped bail of $50 a year and a half ago, while his case was pending in county court, returned to La Crosse about a week ago. His health is broken and he is said to be suffering with tuberculosis.

His aunt, Mrs. Joseph Conway, who home Cook came when he returned, appealed to District Attorney Otto M. Schlachach on Monday to allow Cook his freedom.

"His condition is serious," she said. "I hope he won't have to go to jail, but I thought I ought to tell you he is home, anyway."

Schlachach consented to allow Cook his liberty, although declaring him technically under arrest.

Cook was a member of the party of six automobilists who staged a fight in a French Island saloon, and were driven by their legless ringleader, "Happy" Green at breakneck speed around the island with Sheriff George J. Ritter and a posse in pursuit in another machine.

With Green and his other companions, Cook was arrested, and haled into court. An adjournment of the case was taken and Cook gave bonds of $50. A few days later he was reported missing. He did not appear for the court hearing and his bonds were forfeited. He was never heard from until he appeared at his aunt's door recently.

WALK RIDERS AND MOTORISTS FACE THE POLICE JUDGE

A revival of the recent traffic ordinance crusade was seen in the fining of three side-walk riders and two motorists in police court over the week-end. The autoists arrested were Herman Fischer, who paid $12.50 for exceeding the speed limit, and Harry Leithold, who contributed $3.50 for forgetting to have his lights burning.

Irving Wieshugel, Douglas Pagar and Carl Anderson paid $3.50 apiece for riding bicycles on the sidewalk. Hlat a dozen other youngsters under twelve years of age were taken to Central Station and released after a scolding from the chief.

GO SOUTH FOR SOLDIERS' VOTES

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—Assistant Secretary of State L. B. Naeher, accompanied by E. J. Walden, also of the state department, will leave for San Antonio, Texas on Wednesday, to take the ballots to the Wisconsin soldiers at Camp Wilson, and to conduct the voting on election day.

All the details provided for by the legislature have been arranged so the soldiers can cast a ballot in both the presidential and state elections without any trouble.

BADGER TROOP "B" IS GIVEN TEST

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 30.—Troop B, Wisconsin cavalry, rested here Monday following a grilling twenty-mile ride from Leon Springs to Camp Wilson Saturday night. They arrived here Sunday morning. Plans for the night ride were made unexpectedly, to give the Badger soldiers a tryout. They were in fine condition at the end of the ride.

STRAW VOTE AND BETTING DECLARE STATE DOUBTFUL

It's Anybody's Race in Wisconsin According to Latest "Dope" Reaching City

HUGHES MONEY SCARCE

Plenty of Money Here Offered Even That Wilson Will Win But Takers Are Few

Betting odds and straw votes all point to the fact that Wisconsin is still in the ultra-doubtful column as regards the presidential election, now only eight days away. Local politicians, figuring on the "dope" Monday, were able to arrive only at one conclusion in regard to the Badger state—it will be close.

This was borne out by the publication of betting odds as posted in Milwaukee, by the situation as it appears to local bettors, and by figures in a straw vote now in progress in a chain of drug stores covering the entire country. By all of these indications, it is anybody's race in Wisconsin.

Many States Doubtful

In the country at large, the straw vote taken by the stores, shows that Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Colorado, Maine, Minnesota, Michigan, Nebraska, New Hampshire and New York may be classed as doubtful. In those of the states which are conceded to be normally republican by substantial majorities, the popular straw vote shows a slump in the per centage of republican lead and a corresponding gain for Wilson. Pennsylvania and Utah seem to be about normally republican.

The vote in La Crosse is being taken at the store of C. A. Begun in the Majestic building. The results from each store, where 20 ballots are cast daily, are forwarded to Rexall headquarters in Boston and there tabulated for report to the 8,000 stores conducting the ballot. The figures to date follow:

Northern States
Arizona	1,102
California	1,650

Texas	750
Virginia	887

Total	15,648
Little Hughes Money	61,513

Locally there is a great deal of Wilson money that remains uncovered. At the Steinmetz & Hart cigar store it was said that there was unlimited Wilson coin seeking takers at even money, but that Hughes money was reluctant. The same situation was reported at the Bodega Annex, where Wilson money has been posted for some days without having been covered. It was said during the day that considerable Wilson money was coming up from Milwaukee to seek Hughes adherents, but what odds would be asked was not known.

In Milwaukee the betting is a mix-up, although the confidence of Wilsonites is evident. Odds posted at Marble Hall, the White Seal and Webber & Stuber's, in Milwaukee, were received here by politicians Monday. They included 10 to 6 that Wilson will carry Milwaukee county, and $500 offered at even money that he will carry the county by 2,500 votes. Considerable straight-out Wilson coin is offered at even money.

FALKENHAYN GIVEN SETBACK NORTH OF CAMPOLUNG, REPORT

Battle Continuing with Germans Rushing In Reinforcements, Petrograd Announces

SOUTH FORCE PROGRESSES

Right Wing of Bulgarian Army Reaches Region Fifty Miles North of Constanza, Says Sofia

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Oct. 30.—"South-west of Szurdok pass the Rumanians pushed back one of our side columns," the war office stated Monday afternoon in a statement reporting further Austro-German gains on the Transylvanian front.

Southeast of the Red Tower pass, the successes obtained the preceding day by Hanoverian and Mecklenburg rifles were enlarged and several tenaciously defended Rumanian positions on the heights taken by storm. From the last engagements in this district, 18 officers and more than 700 men were brought in as prisoners.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Falkenhayn's army has been thrown back more than three miles by the Rumanians in a battle north of Campolung, said a Petrograd dispatch Monday.

The battle is continuing. The Teutons have been reinforced and are desperately counter-attacking, seeking to regain the lost ground. Other strong Austro-German forces are attacking northwest of Campolung.

At nearly every point on the Transylvanian border the Austro-German invasion seems to have been blocked. The latest official statements from Vienna and Berlin announced some further progress, but apparently bear out Bucharest claims that Falkenhayn's offensive has been stopped at least temporarily. On the northern front, the Teutons are everywhere being driven across the frontier.

In the Dobruja, Mackensen's pursuit of the retreating Russo-Rumanians continues. The defeated armies are retreating toward the Bend of the Danube.

Gain Near Kronstadt

A Berlin report late Sunday night stated that Teutonic forces pressing an attack on the northern Rumanian frontier have made further progress near Kronstadt and to the southeast in the direction of Campolung. On the other hand, Petrograd claims that the Austro-German offensive on the frontiers of Bukovina, Transylvania and Rumania has been successfully checked.

A dispatch from the Turkish capital states that 1,000 Rumanian prisoners, the first detachment taken by the Turks, have arrived in Constantinople, and that additional ones are expected shortly.

Bucharest announces that along the Rumanian-Transylvania front the Russians and Rumanians are more than holding their own against the invading forces at many points.

Destroy Harsova Bridge

Bulgarian forces have destroyed the bridge at Harsova in Dobruja, and the advanced guard of the east wing has reached the region of Bagdadagh, fifty miles north of Constanza, according to reports received here Sunday night from Sofia. The Teutonic forces have driven the Russo-Rumanians back still farther toward the pontoon bridges across the Danube from Harsova northward to Tulcha and Isakcha, near the mouth of the river.

Report Frenchman Heads Rumanians

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Oct. 30.—The French General Betholet has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Rumanian army, with the Russian General Bielavey as his assistant, French newspapers report.

CAPTAIN BOELCKE GREATEST GERMAN AIR HERO, DEAD

BERLIN, via Wireless to Sayville, L. I., Oct. 30.—The death of Captain Boelcke, Germany's greatest air hero, was confirmed by the semi-official news agency Monday.

During an engagement on Saturday Boelcke collided with another aeroplane and died as he landed behind the German lines. The day before he had shot down his fortieth hostile aeroplane.

CONSUL FROST REPORTS THE LINER MARINA WAS SUNK WITHOUT WARNING

CHARACTER OF SHIP NECESSARY BEFORE ACTION IS TAKEN

STATES ROWANMORE CASE

Frost Says Ship Was Torpedoed After Trying for Fifty Minutes to Escape Submarine

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The steamer Marina, with a cargo of horses, sunk by shell fire by a German submarine Saturday, was sent to the bottom without warning, Consul Frost at Queenstown cabled the state department Monday.

Frost said the crew was reported to include Americans. Only thirty-four out of 104 have so far been accounted for, Frost said.

The Marina was sunk about 3 p. m. Saturday, 100 miles west of Cape Clear, Frost said. Thirty-four of the crew of 104 have been landed at Brookhaven, he said, while lifeboats numbers one and three were missing.

In fixing the blame for the destruction of the vessel, it will be necessary to determine the character of its charter. Some of the horse-ships which have been plying between the United States and England, have been under direct or indirect charter by the British and French governments. In such cases they assume the character for the time being of admiralty vessels and are subject to attack without warning.

These questions must be settled before it can be determined whether the sinking of the Marina may again raise the submarine issue between this country and Germany.

Rowanmore Sunk Attempting Escape

Consul Frost also cabled Monday the Furness freighter Rowanmore, Baltimore to Liverpool, was attacked by a German submarine and sunk while attempting to escape. Two Americans and five Filipinos, he said, were aboard.

Frost's report, tried for fifty minutes to escape from the German submarine. Her steering gear was shot away and the master brought the vessel to a stop, signalling he was abandoning her. The submarine continued shelling and shelled the lifeboats after they had cleared. There were no casualties, however.

At 11:30 a. m. the submarine torpedoed the Rowanmore but she did not sink until 2:40 p. m. The crew were landed at Bantry.

Two Americans Aboard

The two Americans on board were George Murphy, 7409 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn, and Albert Sessler, 42 Sharon street, Boston.

Frost will get affidavits from the two Americans.

STEAMER SENT TO BOTTOM BY SHELL FIRE IS REPORT

SEVENTY LIVES POSSIBLE LOSS; ONLY THIRTY-FOUR OF CREW OF 104 REPORTED LANDED

Two Norwegian Ships Sent to the Bottom Besides One Greek and One Russian Boat

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Two Americans were members of the crew of the British steamer Marina, sunk Saturday, Consul Frost at Queenstown, cabled the state department Monday. There were also five Filipinos in the crew, he said. The Marina tried to escape and was sunk by gun fire, Frost said.

Frost's message did not say where the vessel was sunk.

OUR OTHER SHIPS SUNK

Claim No Warning Given

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Donaldson liner Marina, flying the British flag, and numbering several American citizens among her crew, was sunk by a submarine Saturday afternoon with possible heavy loss of life. The boat had a cargo of horses.

The first advice received here said that seventy of her crew were missing, only thirty-four having been landed. Later a Lloyd's dispatch from Rockhaven asserted that a patrol boat had rescued the crew, making it uncertain whether there were any casualties.

The steamer was sent to the bottom by shell fire. The ship was torpedoed without warning, American Consul Frost at Queenstown was quoted as saying.

The American embassy later received a message from the consul confirming this statement.

Reports of the destruction of four other ships have reached London in the past twenty-four hours. They were the Danish steamer Sif, the Russian three-master Ingersoll, the Norwegian bark Regina, and the Greek steamer Angeliki.

A Lloyd's dispatch from Rock Haven said the Marina's crew was aboard a patrol boat but made no mention of the probable casualties.

The Marina was a steel screw steamer of 5,204 tons, built in 1900, and owned by the Donaldson line. She flew the British flag and was registered at Glasgow.

Von Hindenburg Is Given Great Berlin Welcome

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Arriving in Berlin for his first visit of the war, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg became the object of demonstrations throughout the city.

It was several hours after he had reached Berlin before the news spread. Shopkeepers quickly hung out flags and crowds gathered, anxious for a glimpse of Germany's war hero.

Hindenburg was first received by the kaiser at Bellevue palace and later with his wife and daughter dined with the kaiser and kaiserin. It is understood he met some of the government heads after his conference with the emperor.

The kaiser himself spent several hours in Berlin Saturday. After visiting city soup kitchens and eating some of the cabbage and meat stew, his majesty received a lengthy report from Chancellor von Bethmann-Hellweg.

LAWRENCE'S SON PLAGUE-STRICKEN ON WEST COAST

Howard, the eight-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Lawrence, is confined in the isolation ward of a hospital in Los Angeles, suffering with infantile paralysis, according to word received by Dr. Lawrence Monday.

Mrs. Lawrence left La Crosse about a month ago with her children to spend the winter on the Pacific coast. Her aunt, Mrs. T. L. Royal of Randsburg, Cal., and a trained nurse, are caring for the other children. Mrs. Lawrence is with her son in the hospital.

The boy was taken ill several days ago, according to a letter received by his mother here. His complaint was not diagnosed until Monday, when Mrs. Lawrence telegraphed her husband. The child's left leg is paralyzed. It is believed that his brothers and sisters are not affected.

JAMES WALTON PLEADS GUILTY

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 30.—James Walton, leader of the trio of bandits, who robbed the pay-car of the Burroughs Adding Machine company of $32,500 here last August, pleaded guilty to robbery while armed, when arraigned Monday before Police Judge Stein. He was held to the next term of the recorder's court for sentence under $10,000 bonds.

Uric Acid Poisoning!

The most eminent physicians recognize that uric acid stored up in the system is the cause of rheumatism, that this uric acid poison is present in the joints, muscles, or nerves. By experimenting and analysis at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce discovered a combination of native remedies that he called Anuric—which drives out the uric acid from the system, and in this way the pain, swelling and inflammation subside. If you are a sufferer from rheumatism, backache, pains here or there, you can obtain Anuric at any drug store and get relief from the pains and ills brought about by uric acid; or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package Anuric—many times more potent than lithia, eliminates uric acid as hot water melts sugar. A short trial will convince you.

A PROMINENT PORTAGE WOMAN

Portage, Wis.—"About six years ago I got to feeling quite poorly. I was weak, seemed that I had no energy or strength; in fact, I was all run down. My mother was taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at the time, so I began taking it, and I was all right in about five weeks' time—was feeling fine. My strength came back and I have been in the best of health ever since. 'Favorite Prescription' is a great medicine and I do heartily recommend it."—MRS. VELTON FOX, 502 Pleasant Street, W.

The Presidential Debate

FOR WILSON

(By the Democratic National Committee)

FOR HUGHES

(By the Republican National Committee)

"Kept Us Out of War"
Theodore Roosevelt in Chicago, October 26, 1916: "I was asked to make a speech, both here and in Denver, urging you not to be misled by the appeal that has been used to win your votes, that Mr. Wilson kept us out of war."

William Howard Taft, Bryn Mawr, June 14, 1915: "If we had a jingo in the White house this country would now be at war with Germany. Instead, our chief executive is a man who appreciates his responsibility and realizes that, considering the temper of the people, a turn of his hand would plunge us into an international conflict."

"Rights of American Citizens"
About the middle of February the Gore resolution introduced in the senate and the McInerney resolution in the house provided, in substance, that American citizens who exercised their right to travel on merchant vessels of the nations at war would do so at their own risk and forfeit the protection of their government.

Upon motions to table (kill) these resolutions, and to maintain the rights of Americans, a majority of republican members of congress, voting, voted against maintaining such rights of Americans on the high seas. The democrats voted in favor of maintaining the rights of Americans on the high seas by a majority of 196.

"Peace With Honor"
President Wilson to Senator Stone, February 24, 1916: "I cannot consent to any abridgment of the rights of American citizens in any respect. The honor and self-respect of the nation are involved. We cannot peace and shall preserve it at any cost, but the loss of honor. To forbid our people to exercise their rights for fear we might be called upon to vindicate them would be a deep humiliation indeed."

"Mistakes"
Excepting Senator Hustling, every member of congress from Wisconsin supported these resolutions, and if any have felt (as claimed by some) that they made a mistake, they are not as frank as Mr. Henry Weissmann.

Henry Weissmann, President German-American Alliance of New York State, (New York World, March 6, 1916): "I tell you frankly, we German sympathizers have made mistakes since this war began which have instilled a hatred of Germans here it will take years to eradicate. I say now that it has been largely our fault—our own methods."

The Republican Party
There are two theories of government, my fellow citizens. One is that power should be centered in the control of trustees, who should determine the administration of all economic and political affairs. That is the theory of the republican party. A carefully hand-picked body of trustees. The other theory is that of government by responsible and responsive servants of the great body of citizens, able to understand the common interests, because in direct and sympathetic touch with the common desire and the common need. The peculiarity of those who think in the terms of trusteeship is that their thinking always squares with the preferences of the powerful, and never squares with the lessons of history.—Wilson at Jefferson Day Dinner, Washington, D. C., April 13, 1916.

An Outworn Economic Error
It (the republican party) has spent its time barking back to a single outworn economic error to which its intellectual armory apparently is limited, while we have gone forward in the spirit of a new age to conceive the methods by which the new necessities of civilization shall be met.—Wilson at Jefferson Day Dinner, Washington, D. C., April 13, 1916.

A progressive republican is only a republican in a way to become a democrat.

W. C. T. U. MOVIES SHOWN AT RUSHFORD

RUSHFORD, Minn.—(Special.)—Miss Zoe Atchison, national field secretary of the Kansas branch of the W. C. T. U., spoke to an attentive audience here last Wednesday afternoon. Miss Atchison is a very forceful and entertaining speaker. The local W. C. T. U. ladies served luncheon after the parlor meeting; the substantial sum of $24 being made on the same. Under the auspices of the local W. C. T. U. there will be shown Monday evening a series of pictures at the Elite theater here. The views have been purchased by the W. C. T. U.

The funeral services for the late William Johns were held last Wednesday at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's church. Rev. Doyle officiating. A large throng of friends and relatives gathered to pay their last tribute.

District Highway Engineer H. B. Childs is authority for the information that the road extending south from the old territorial or Chatfield road to the county line on the way to Rushford will be completed this week. The road is of soil construction, save the hill down into the Rushford valley, where brick has been used. Cameron, Joyce & Company of Keokuk, Iowa, are the builders of the highway, which is the first of the several now under construction, to be completed.

Miss Margaret McGrath, a former resident of this city, but more recently of Minneapolis, passed away at her home in that city last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The young lady, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. McGrath, had been in failing health for some time, the trouble being of a tubercular nature. She was about 35 years of age and in her residence among us here in Rushford had made a wide circle of friends whose heartfelt sympathy goes out to the bereaved ones.

Mrs. Henry Steen of Winona passed away at her home in that city recently. Although known to be quite ill, her relatives near here were not expecting to hear of her death so suddenly. Mr. Steen was a former resident of this city. Mr. and Mrs. P. Colbenson and Mrs. L. Bjerke of this vicinity went up to Winona to attend the funeral services.

Ole Wifald, an old resident of this vicinity, died at his home a few miles from this city Sunday last. A sufferer from cancer, he had in numerous places endeavored to find relief from his disease, but when told that there remained no help for him, patiently awaited the last summons. He was a native of Seljord, Telemarken, Norway, being born there in June, 1856. Dane county, Wis., was his home for many years after coming to America with his parents. He is survived by five children: Henry of Bucyrus, N. D.; Mrs. P. T. Adams of De Soto, Wis.; Alfred of South Rushford, and Joe and Sophie at home.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from the Rushford Lutheran church, interment being made in the Lutheran cemetery west of this city.

Mrs. Edith Fobes of Redwood Falls, Minn., arrived in this city last Monday night, being called here by the serious illness of her brother, Howard Moore, Ray Moore of Hibbing, Minn., also came to Rushford last Friday night, upon receiving the same sad news that his brother Howard was not expected to survive more than a short time.

"If anyone doubts that we made war on Mexico at Vera Cruz ask the mothers and fathers of the boys who were killed on the streets of that Mexican seaport."

"Ask the wives and mothers and sisters of the Mexicans who were killed at Vera Cruz whether we were at war with Mexico."

"Ask the relatives of the eighteen American civilians who were butchered at Santa Ysabel."

"Ask the relatives of the United States soldiers who were treacherously slain at Carrizal."

"Ask the mothers and sisters of those who were slaughtered in the raid at Columbus, New Mexico, whether we were at war with Mexico."

"Ask the citizens of Brownsville, Red House Ferry, Progreso and Los Peladales whether the president 'has kept us out of war.'"

"Ask the hundreds of those refugees who are in the United States today, practically penniless and in want, who were forced to leave their property and homes in Mexico because the Wilson administration refused to give them the protection to which they were justly entitled."

"Ask the thousands of peaceful Mexicans who have suffered famine during 'watchful waiting.'"

"And, finally, ask the wives and children, the dependent mothers, fathers and sisters of the 150,000 national guardsmen who are encamped on the Mexican border whether the president has kept us out of war with Mexico."

"In 1912 the democratic platform proclaimed this high sounding doctrine:—

"The constitutional rights of American citizens should protect them on our borders, and go with them throughout the world, and every American citizen residing or having property in any foreign country is entitled to and must be given the full protection of the United States government both for himself and for his property."

"After several years of 'watchful waiting' Secretary of State Lansing sent a letter to the head of the de facto government of Mexico in which occurs this remarkable language:—

"The progress of the revolution in Mexico: Continuous bloodshed and disorders have marked its progress. For three years the Mexican republic has been torn with civil strife; lives of American and other aliens have been sacrificed; vast properties developed by American capital and enterprise have been destroyed or rendered non-productive; bandits have been permitted to roam at will through the territory contiguous to the United States and to seize, without punishment or without effective attempt at punishment, the property of Americans while the lives of citizens of the United States who ventured to remain in Mexican territory or to return there to protect their interests have been taken, and in some cases barbarously taken, and the murderers have neither been apprehended nor brought to justice."

"It would be tedious to recount instance after instance, outrage after outrage, atrocity after atrocity, to illustrate the true nature and extent of the widespread conditions of lawlessness and violence which have prevailed."

"Not only were these murders characterized by ruthless brutality but uncivilized acts of mutilation were perpetrated."

"This is the indictment of the Wilson administration in Mexico by its own secretary of state."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Qualities in Common

Years ago at a banquet in celebration of the completion of the Chicago Board of Trade, Mayor Harrison, the elder, made a flowery speech in the course of which he said, "I am proud of the fact that I was born in the years that the locomotive was invented."

The next address was made by Emory Storrs, nationally celebrated for his wit. Mr. Storrs said, "I agree with Mayor Harrison in declaring it a felicitous coincidence that he and the locomotive were born the same year, for both have been blowing off steam ever since."

Forecasts

For Wisconsin: Partly cloudy to night and Tuesday; probably rain in north and west portions. Warmer to night and in east and south portions Tuesday.

For Minnesota: Unsettled tonight, probably rain extreme east portion, warmer east and south portions Tuesday generally fair, colder west portion.

For Iowa: Partly cloudy and warmer tonight Tuesday generally fair with warmer in extreme east and colder extreme west portions.

Weather Conditions
It is showing this morning at Marquette and raining at a few Atlantic and Pacific stations and in northwestern North Dakota. Elsewhere the weather is fair, but with considerable cloudiness.

The temperature is not far from the seasonal normal in any section but is slightly above in the middle and north Atlantic states and in the Dakotas and slightly below this section.

The pressure is moderately high from the north gulf states to the Gulf of St. Lawrence and also over the Pacific slope and Plateau region. It is low off the southern coast of Florida and in the Canadian northwest.

These pressure conditions indicate unsettled weather in this section for tonight and Tuesday.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Nilsen)

TO POP THE RANGE

There is a section of our country that extends in one long narrow belt northward and southward through half a dozen states for hundreds of miles. It is almost as much an individual feature as some great river. This is the strip of "top country" that runs along the very crest of the Rockies.

In the northernmost states the top of the range is not much in evidence. It is buried under snow for most of the year. But a little farther southward it begins to show its own peculiar features of life and climate and topography, duplicated nowhere else on the continent. It varies in altitude all the way from eleven and twelve to fourteen thousand feet. Not all of it is bare and rocky; so exposed is its position to all the mighty winds, so long does it lie under the snow-blanket from early fall to late spring that hardly a green thing takes heart to grow in the brief summer.

There is one sturdy bush that per-

DON'T FORGET THE STATE ISSUES

The presidential campaign this year has taken largely the form of a personal duel between two great individualities. Party issues, to a great extent, have given way to personal issues. This is bound to be true in any case in which the international status of the country is involved, for men who cleave close to party in relation to domestic problems unhesitatingly and almost unconsciously ignore party lines when their ideas of patriotism call.

This situation tends to complicate state campaigns, where the issues are domestic. There are many voters who seldom split a ticket, and when they leave their party to vote for a presidential candidate, they make the cross at the top of the ticket and vote it "straight". "Let the tail go with the hide", seems to be their motto.

Nobody knows what Wisconsin is going to do in the presidential election. This state has been consistently republican, and the assumption that it would be for Hughes was general. But considerable surprise has been created by the fact that political forecasts by papers in Chicago and the east, and the "dope" of political experts engaged in magazine work have repeatedly placed Wisconsin in the "doubtful" or "extra-doubtful" list. Some color is given this by the statement yesterday of Chairman West, of the Wisconsin republican state central committee, that "Wisconsin is no longer in the doubtful list", a plain acknowledgment that the G. O. P. state organization had once considered the outlook dubious. Whether Mr. West has read correctly the present drift of the silent sub-current that dopesters have been vainly trying to fathom remains to be seen, but outside of official political claims made for effect, party leaders freely admit they do not know. This does not mean a close finish, necessarily. It may mean a practical landslide for one candidate or the other. The simple fact is that there is an undercurrent the direction and size of which is in doubt. One thing suggests that it flows toward Wilson—the fact that it is a silent movement, that silent movements usually indicate breach of party lines, and that significant breaking of party lines in republican Wisconsin must be toward democratic candidates.

Now there is something in this election more important to Wisconsin voters than the presidency. No matter how they seek to mutilate each other politically, Hughes and Wilson stand for so much the same things that most of their differences narrow down to mere phraseology. Each is recognized as able and honest. This applies to their attitude toward domestic as well as international questions. But in Wisconsin there is a great state issue. It is the issue of whether those great progressive policies for which both Wilson and Hughes stand, issues born and worked out in Wisconsin and copied by other states and the nations, shall live and be developed, or shall be perverted or starved.

Independent voting that does not mean ticket-splitting will not solve Wisconsin's problem. For two years this state has been given by a fight to save the constructive work of many years. That fight is still in progress. The head of the republican state ticket is the man who has injured or endangered Wisconsin's hard-won progressive government. On that ticket with him are men who helped to make the progressive laws—such pioneers as Merlin Hull and Walter Owen. Before them all is Senator Robert M. La Follette, who began and now leads the movement to give the people back their democracy.

Any republican who votes for Wilson because he regards him as more progressive than Hughes, must in all consistency vote for La Follette, Hull and Owen.

Any democrat who votes for Hughes because he regards him as more progressive, must, to be consistent, vote also for La Follette, Hull and Owen.

We may not agree as to a choice between Wilson and Hughes, but La Follette's place and value are fixed. He represents the beginning in Wisconsin, and the strong arm extended from this state to the senate of the United States. Everywhere, in Washington and in other states, his re-election is admitted to be the outstanding issue of the campaign. The people of the United States look to Wisconsin to maintain her leadership and buttress true representative government in the nation.

sists in clinging to its foothold—a typical bit of top-country life. This is the Arctic willow, a stunted shrub as tough as frozen buckskin, gnarled and dwarfed and twisted into a thousand fantastic shapes by wind and winter drifts, by living and thriving in the face of all discouragement. That is about the only bit of greenery in this narrow belt of high-fung cold. Animals are just as few. Only one little brute is stout-hearted enough to make his home in this inhospitable zone the year around. He is the Rocky Mountain woodchuck, a plump, defiant creature who sleeps away the winter in a rock-canny, and in summer emerges to whistle a clear high-pitched note across the bottomless valleys.

The top of the range is a bit of the Arctic slipped into the temperate zone. On either side the mountain falls away sharply to kinder altitudes, so that within half a mile there are dense spruce forests on either hand. But up here is only a barren cold, a silence broken only by the eerie pipe of the woodchuck, a stillness disturbed only by the floating black flight of a passing raven.

The Searchlight

MILK MADE FROM BEANS

The threatened shortage of milk might not look so serious if the Chinese method of making bean milk were established in this country. The beans are soaked for sometime and then crushed between stones. The crushed pulp is strained through a cloth, diluted with water and boiled. It is strained again after boiling and then bottled ready for use. This product looks like fresh milk and has a decidedly pleasant taste. Chemical analysis shows its percentage of fat to be equal to good cow's milk. In China it is produced at low cost, fifty cents a month will buy a plant a day. A special small yellow bean is used for this purpose. Experimenters looking towards their introduction into this country have already been begun by the department of agriculture.

"Then the whole thing would have to be retried, for they would never agree," objected Harkness.

They talked long as they sat in the tall grasses, in the shade of the orchard wall, while the shadows lengthened, and the dusk of coming night approached. At last Appleby rose, saying he must dress for dinner.

"Don't fret, Tom," he urged. "My first thought was to go abroad," confessed Harkness, rising and wiping his shining brow. "But that day I got auntie's telegram. She has forty millions. I thought I would risk coming here and she might—er—leave me something."

Appleby nodded. "She will probably be down tomorrow and you can see her then and leave for Europe the day after."

He decided not to accompany his cousin back to the house through the orchard and pass the stables, lest he be met by the process server, but dodged off along the wall to the distant side of the meadow where he disappeared from sight in the thick bushes, first pausing to turn and wave Appleby a forlorn good-by.

The great house basked contentedly in the slanting rays of the afternoon sun. The western windows were all ablaze as though with their owner's forty millions. Veranda and terrace, lawn and flower garden were deserted. Two robins chattered shrilly in the seclusion of the tree branches, but no voice in laughter or song, no childish treble broke the silence and peace of the place.

Harkness, worn and weary, emerged from a big clump of bushes and assuring himself by a quick glance that no one was in sight, started hastily across the lawn. He reached the wide stone steps of the terrace in safety and paused a moment to get his breath for the ascent, when around the corner of the portico appeared a tall gaunt figure, woman below and man above. Harkness gave one agonized glance, caught no more than a horrified view of the severely tight, severely plain, extremely unbecoming policeman's coat, took the apparition for a man, and with one dying groan, made a last desperate ineffectual attempt to mount the wide low steps. But even as he struggled forward the woman sprang with an awkward agility and grabbed him by the only thing her hands could reach, his coat-tails.

"Halt!" said she. "As it was manifestly physically impossible for Harkness to proceed, he halted."

"Come with me," said the woman in the muffled accents of a fog horn with a cold in the throat. "You must leave these grounds. No stranger is allowed inside the fence."

Harkness drew a breath of relief. Clearly this was no process server. He turned.

"Excuse me," said he, puffing and wiping his heated brow. "I am Mr. Harkness, Miss Appleton's nephew."

The policeman was tall and thin, with her hair drawn so tightly back that none of it showed beneath her smart cap.

Harkness glanced into her hard unsexed face. She unbuttoned her natty blouse, put in her hand and drew forth from a breast pocket a note-book and pencil.

"Name, please," said she with the toneless animation of an automaton.

"Harkness, Thomas Harkness," replied that gentleman, still mopping his brow, with one wary eye on the driveway and the distant gate, and yet with a feeling of pleasant security in the gaunt female's mere presence. He realized quite plainly that no process server could reach him now.

"Age?"

"Forty-five," said Harkness. He had been forty-five for the last ten years, so it rolled off his tongue with the readiness of truth.

"Occupation?"

"Watchful waiting," said Harkness, thinking of Miss Appleby and the forty millions.

"Residence?"

"Unfortunately, Denver."

"Denver?" The policewoman paused, pencil suspended, and looked at him. "Denver?"

"Denver," repeated Harkness. "As soon as I can return with safety and pack my apartment house goods, it will be Salt Lake."

It was clear that the officer did not believe that Denver was his residence and equally clear that his facetious remark was to be ignored. She left the space for residence in the book a blank, shut it, snapped the elastic around it and slipped it back into her pocket. Buttoning her blouse, she took Harkness' arm firmly, unhesitatingly, determinedly.

"Come with me," said she, and led him, dazed and unresisting, toward the distant gateway.

Harkness trotted along beside her in a miserable agony of self-consciousness over the absurdity of the situation; he who had lived all his life in Colorado, being arrested by a policewoman in Connecticut. Maude would see only the glorious emancipation of woman in the incident. Cally would probably burst into tears, and the rest of the women would be more or less serious and impressed. Vera would see the fun. Her dark eyes would twinkle and her generous mouth would close demurely, but she would be laughing at him all the same. Vera was not yet a feminist, for she still had a sense of humor. Like all little men, Harkness suffered torture when being laughed at. He glanced at the grim creature rolling along beside him and was thankful at least that her skirt was tight, as it enabled his short legs to keep pace easily with her long ones. He did not want to call out for some one to come and identify him because he hated to see them trying not to laugh, and he was certain of being able to convince the officer who he was before they reached the gate. He failed pitifully. His words fell on apparently deaf ears.

At the great iron gate, the woman relaxed her hold on his arm a moment to unlatch and push open the gate and as he waited beside her, coming briskly up the wide, tree-shaded street, Harkness beheld a strange young man, tall and thin, with glasses astride his nose and his hat on the back of his head. In every stranger, Harkness saw a possible process server. He turned now in a desperate break for liberty, but the policewoman was ready for him. She grabbed him firmly by his fat arm and yanked him around.

"Young man, the gate," said she tersely. "No stranger is permitted in these grounds."

"I am not a stranger," pleaded Harkness. "That man coming may be a process server."

"Better than a spy," said the policewoman grimly, looking down from her lofty height on the poor little red-faced man in such evident distress that any one else would have realized that his anxiety was real and not assumed. The woman police officer, however, was not to be fooled. She knew her job.

WHERE ARE MY CHILDREN

A Moving Picture Revelation Dealing Plainly with the Question of

BIRTH CONTROL

A Smashing, Daring Subject Handled in a Smashing, Daring Way. Endorsed by Superior Paulist Father of the United States; John J. Hughes; Dr. C. H. Pankhurst, and Hundreds of Clergy, Doctors, Social Workers.

It will make women think and think hard. It will make men look before they leap. It will act as a warning to the young. It will set agog. It is the sensation of sensations. It will impress every living soul who sees it. It is an arraignment against those guilty of the premeditated slaughter of the unborn.

It is a master production, written by Lois Weber, the genius of the screen, who produced "Hypocrites," "Scandal," etc. It is acted with impelling force by

ANOTHER BUSY WEEK FOR BOB

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—Another busy week has been planned for Senator La Follette. He will speak in Milwaukee tonight, at Darlington on Tuesday and probably at Fennimore and Bloomington on Wednesday. Friday night he will speak at Black River Falls. His Thursday meetings will be in Vernon county.

Love that seldom grows old is the love of money.

COPELAND CLUB SCORES ANOTHER

Repeating their performance of a week ago, the Copeland Athletic club on Sunday plumed to a 14 to 0 victory over the Rose Street Stars in a gridiron battle at Copeland park.

Harry Lafore and Paul Maroon, who was a normal school regular last year, carried the ball over for the Copeland aggregation. Maroon kicked goal after each touchdown.

The line ups: Rose Street Stars—Shepard, left end; Blanchard, left tackle; Roden, left guard; Hogan, center; H. Miller, right guard; S. O'Gar, right tackle; Wittenberg, right end; E. Nelson, fullback; R. O'Gar, left halfback; P. Winell, right halfback; Lafser, quarterback. Substitutes—Dullea and Brinkman.

C. A. C.—A. Smith, left end; Marcou, left tackle; Wittenberg, left guard; Pierce, center; Shivers, right guard; Casperson, right tackle; Bartheld, right end; G. Gibson, left halfback; M. Gibson, fullback; E. Winell, right halfback; Lafore, quarterback. Substitutes—Dwyer, Ritter, Dayton, Shafer.

WEDDING DESSERT FOLLOWS DINNER AT LOCAL HOTEL

A wedding ceremony was held for the dinner which Albert Berg of Albion, and Miss Mayme Gibson, of Ontario, enjoyed at the Northwest hotel Saturday afternoon. Immediately after Albert had staked Mayme to the big eats, they got Judge Clinton Hunt on the telephone and half an hour later were man and wife. The ceremony was performed in a parlor of the hotel. Mrs. Berg was a school teacher.

GENERAL TIE-UP OF RAILROAD TRAFFIC RESULT OF WRECK

M'GREGOR, Ia. — (Special.) — A general tie-up of railroad traffic occurred here Thursday as the result of a freight wreck near Buena Vista on the river division and the sudden settling of a bridge over Bloody Run on the I. & D. division near Giard station. Owing to some peculiar instability of the soil formation the abutments of the bridge have been settling for some time, and no amount of filling has yet been sufficient to give the structure an unyielding foundation. It is said the Milwaukee company had a similar experience with the bridge at this point twenty years ago.

Teachers Meet

The annual Clayton County Teachers' Inspirational Institute was held Thursday and Friday of last week, the first day at Edgewood and the second in the new rural consolidated school at Luana. The teachers attended from both town and rural schools. President C. P. Colgrove of Upper Iowa University and Superintendent F. E. Palmer of the Mason City schools were the speakers. Readings were given by Miss F. Taylor Cole of Elkader and vocal numbers by Miss Maud Marshall of Dubuque. Superintendent of Schools Carl F. Becker was in charge.

Political Address

Carl D. Evans, candidate for representative to congress on the democratic ticket in the fourth district, addressed a large audience at the opera house here Friday night. It was the first political meeting which had been held here. The McGregor band furnished music. A republican rally is scheduled for next week with Senator W. S. Kenyon as speaker.

Wedded

Word has been received by McGregor friends of the marriage of Miss Nell O'Brien to Roger Kinsella at Sioux Falls, S. D. The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. O'Brien, for many years residents of this place, was born and lived in McGregor until a few years ago when the family moved to Sioux Falls. The bridegroom is a merchant at Sioux Falls.

Bargain Day

McGregor merchants will hold a general bargain day in the near future, every merchant including the automobile men taking part in it and offering greatly reduced prices on different lines of goods. Special entertainment will be provided during the day.

Locals

November 3rd and 4th are the dates of the annual Rummy Sale of the Industrial society. The Congregational church. The sale will be held in the Miller building on South Main street.

Since the untoward for the west channel of the Mississippi at North McGregor, was launched by the Milwaukee company at Prairie du Chien last week, work on laying the tracks and other iron has been in progress as it rests on the water near where it is built. As soon as this work is completed the government boat Percy Swain, engaged in river improvement near the mouth of the Wisconsin will be commissioned to tow the huge craft around the islands and down to the west draw where it will be put into position before ice-forming begins.

A petition for an extension of the sanitary sewer on B street has been circulated and a sufficient number of signatures secured to warrant construction, property owners paying the expense.

James Robbins has bought the lot on lower Main street east of the Times office from J. A. Ramage and will build a fine residence on the lot. Many from town and country have been attending the semi-annual sale of unclaimed goods by the C. M. & St. P. at Prairie du Chien.

Oscar Fryklund, who was formerly in the photographic business here has returned from Oshkosh, Wis., where he has been conducting a studio.

Miss Martha Richards returned from Fargo, N. D., Sunday and was operated on at the hospital here for appendicitis Friday.

The annual Firemen's ball was held Thursday night and very well attended. Schmacher and Devoe's orchestra furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Veach of Virginia, Neb., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ziegler of Omaha are guests of the John Hartwick family, motoring here from Nebraska.

The Epworth league will hold a Halloween social in the Methodist church parlors Friday evening.

DIGESTION WORTH HAVING

Good digestion is not appreciated until you lose it. Then you cannot afford to experiment on remedies. Strong medicines are hard on weak stomachs. To be able to eat what you want and to digest it is a priceless blessing. If you have lost it do not be deceived by the claims of predigested foods and stomach tonics, so-called.

There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. As the blood goes everywhere, an improvement in its condition quickly results in strengthening weak organs. Rich, red blood is absolutely necessary to digestion. If your stomach is weak and you are troubled with gas, sour risings in the throat, a feeling of pressure about the heart and palpitation, try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

So many dyspepsias have been helped by this simple treatment that every sufferer from stomach trouble should try it. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., has issued a booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," that should be in every home. It gives just the information that you want regarding your diet. The company will mail Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, postpaid, at fifty cents per box or your own druggist can supply you.

WOMEN! TRY IT! SAVE 5 DOLLARS

Says gasoline and solvite in wash boiler dry cleans everything.

Ever dry clean at home? Well, it's so easy, inexpensive and the results so pleasing you'll be surprised. Any woman can clean and renew the brightness of ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, silk, shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, furs, neckties, children's coats, suits, caps, swiss, lawn, organdy and chiffon dresses, fancy vests, veils, woolen garments, net-work, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline where it quickly dissolves. Then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing. Any woman can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in a few moments and you can't make a mistake. Your grocer or any garage will supply the gasoline and the drug store will sell you two ounces of solvite which is simply a gasoline soap. Then a wash boiler or large dish pan completes your dry-cleaning outfit.

PICTURE DEVELOPS ARGUMENTS UPON CONTROL OF BIRTHS

Tyrone Power, noted character actor, who plays the part of Richard Walton, the prosecuting attorney in "Where Are My Children?" the photoplay production opening at the La Crosse theatre on Monday for a three-day engagement is one of the most effective actors in the country. Mr. Power during his stage career, appeared with Sir Henry Irving, Minnie Madden Fisk, Julia Marlow, Mrs. Leslie Carter and William Faversham. For several seasons he was featured in "The Servant in the House." In "Where Are My Children?" he plays the part of the childless lawyer who secures a conviction of a society doctor for criminal operations only to learn that his own wife has been one of the doctor's patients.

It is this prosecutor's excessive fondness for children that early in the story takes him take a keen interest in the prosecution of doctors who urge or practice race suicide in any manner. The first doctor he brings to trial is for circulating literature urging birth control. In his defense this doctor described the deplorable conditions he has found in tenement districts and the slums. He points out how he has seen children born of diseased parents suffer for years and either die young or become perpetual charges on society. He paints a vivid picture of the vicious environment which makes criminals of the children born into it. Then leading up to the trial of the other doctor for race suicide is pictured the other condition—the wealthy, healthy and intellectual denying souls' entrance to this world. There is a vivid contrast a eugenic marriage and her baby, and the social butterfly who fondles a poodle dog in her arms.

NEWSPAPER STORY STARS MR. LUCAS

Wilfred Lucas, one of the most distinctive stars of the entire Triangle list, is characterized as a newspaper man in the Fine Arts play, "The Rummy", which is playing at the Majestic theater Monday, Sunday crowds at the theater voted Lucas a thorough hit.

The story begins with a healthy swing when the police reporter marries a girl in the night court of a large city. A chain of circumstances gives the man cause to doubt her. Then he hits the rum trail. The newspaper furnishes a larger part of the story's atmosphere, if not the situations.

Lucas's film work dates back to the early days of the Biograph, when Mary Pickford, and a host of others who are now celebrities, played with him.

Miss Edna Mayo and Eugene O'Brien comes to the Majestic screen Tuesday for a two-day engagement in "The Return of Eve," the Essanay strike filmed in the famous Dells of the Wisconsin.

LOU-TELLEGEN IN FRENCH WAR PLAY

"The Victory of Conscience" has been selected as the title for the thrilling drama in which Lou-Tellegen, the distinguished dramatic star, will make his next appearance for the Jesse L. Lasky company, at the Bijou again tonight and Tuesday. He is supported by Cleo Ridgely and an all star Lasky cast, including Eliott Dexter, Thomas Delmar and Laura Woods Cushing.

The Lasky company considers "The Victory of Conscience" one of the most unusual photodramas that it has ever presented to the public. It tells a tensely dramatic story in a most realistic way, of how two loving souls are brought together when they are separated by their religious vows.

Many scenes are laid in the prominent cafes of Paris.

ILLNESS PREVENTS PHILIPP TOUR OF
LA CROSSE COUNTY

Because of a slight illness, Governor E. L. Philipp was unable to reach La Crosse Monday for a tour of the county and will not arrive in the city until 5:50 p. m.

The governor spent Sunday at his home in Milwaukee and his physicians advised that he get all the rest possible before starting on the last lap of his strenuous campaign for re-election.

The state's chief executive will deliver two addresses in La Crosse Monday, one at the Centennial and one at the Concordia hall. There will be other speakers at the meetings and both will start promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

La Crosse republicans are looking forward with interest to the address of Senator Borah of Idaho, a strong Hughes man, which will be delivered at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the Yeomen hall. It had been announced that the meeting was to be held Tuesday night, but this was an error, the program calling for Wednesday night.

With but a week left, the local republican county committee has started on a strenuous campaign.
The week's program and speakers
follows:

Tuesday night—Schlabach and Thompson at West Salem and Schlabach at Baugor.

MONCEA DUNN, OPTOMETRIST
La Crosse, Wis.

Mr. Dunn, according to the results of the Wisconsin state board examinations in optometry, is undoubtedly the best equipped optometrist in the state.
He passed the hardest TECHNICAL examination ever held in Wisconsin, averaging above 82 in Anatomy, Physiology and Pathology; Theoretical and Physiological Optics; Theoretical Optometry, and Practical Optics.

Although entitled to the vastly easier examination, in one subject only (Practical Optometry) by reason of his nearly seventeen years practical experience in fitting glasses in this state, Mr. Dunn elected to take the full technical examination required for college graduates beginning business in the state. There were only four practicing optometrists in Wisconsin, among several hundred, who passed the technical examination.

Three passed at earlier examinations which are admitted to have been very much easier. The several hundred others in business prior to the passage of the new optometry law simply were examined in the one subject of Practical Optics and were only required to answer seventy per cent of a few rudimentary questions.

The new law prohibits deceptive methods being used in advertising. The above facts are of record and can be verified by application to the state examining board.

The following news item appeared in the La Crosse Tribune about August tenth:

"By passing the technical examination required for out-of-state optometrists or those within the state who had not previously fitted glasses, although the easier 'exempt' or 'practical' examination was open to him, Moncea Dunn has become one of but four state practitioners eligible to simpler examination to achieve the larger record."

SOCIETY

CHARITY BALL TICKETS
ISSUED ON WEDNESDAY

The ticket committee for the Charity ball is busily preparing mailing lists preparatory to sending out tickets for the ball on Wednesday.
The committee requests Charity ball patrons, who may have friends to whom they would like tickets sent, to either telephone or send the names to Mrs. Albert Hirschleimer, 228 North Sixth street, chairman of the ticket committee. The committee also adds the suggestion that if checks are sent promptly by mail upon receipts of tickets it will save members of the committee many weary steps the day of the ball, when they would like to be fresh for the festivities of the evening.

AT THE COUNTRY CLUB
A table d'hôte Halloween supper will be served at the Country club on Tuesday evening, this event to close the season at the club.

Mrs. John M. Holley and Mrs.
William Goodrich entertained a party of friends at luncheon at the club today.

Saturday evening took place the annual pancake supper at the club, sixty-five members being present on this occasion. Entertainment was furnished by Prof. R. V. Morgan, of the Normal school and Emil Neimeyer, with piano and vocal music.

Following the supper the annual election of the club was held, resulting as follows:

President—George W. Burton.
Vice-president—P. M. Gelatt.
Secretary—Frank P. Hixon.
Treasurer—Frederick A. Copeland.
The directorate of the club included in addition to the officers,
Messrs. Lucius C. Colman, Harry J.
Hirschleimer, Charles H. Schweizer,
Alfred James and Harry Curtis.

HOLMLUND-ERICKSON
Miss Ruth Erickson, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson, of West Salem, and Olaf Holmlund, also of Salem, were united in marriage at the home of the bride Saturday, the Rev. J. B. Sundt, of La Crosse, officiating at the ceremony.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVANCE
The seventy-ninth birthday of Mrs. Carl Kinder was celebrated at a family gathering at her home, 731
North Ninth street, Friday evening.
A delightful supper was served at five o'clock, the table being centered with a large birthday cake decorated with seventy-nine candles. Chrysanthemums were also used in the decorations. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Kinder and daughter, Daisy, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kreutz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Art Weigle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lamprich, Miss Lydia Jacobus and W. J. Jacobus. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs.
F. M. Madsen, of St. Paul, and Mrs.
Ida MacDonald and daughter, Wanda, of Prairie du Chien.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Emil Kreutz entertained at dinner at her home, 1202 South Fifth street, in honor of her husband's birthday, her guests included those participating in the Kinder party of the evening before. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Art Weigle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred
Lamprich, Mrs. Carl Kinder, Miss Lydia Jacobus, F. W. Jacobus, Mr.
and Mrs. F. M. Madsen of St. Paul, ler.

HALLOWEEN PARTY
The eighth grade of the normal school, thirty in number, enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Evelyn Brettnall, a member of the class, Saturday evening. The house was decorated in accord with the spirit of the time, and games provided entertainment during the evening.

The appearance of a tall figure, draped in white, with light blazing from the empty eye-sockets of its skeleton head, caused not a little consternation among the young folks

MANY LA CROSSE PEOPLE REALIZE THE MERITS OF TANLAC AND ENDORSE IT

We are hearing more all the time here in La Crosse praises for Tanlac.
Tanlac gives satisfaction and people are glad to recommend it.

It has been said that Tanlac is like oil for machinery—it keeps the human engine moving smoothly and efficiently.
C. H. Smith, living at 227 King Street, La Crosse, said to Mr. Henderson, the Tanlac man:

"I feel positive Tanlac is what I need and will give me the desired relief I am seeking, as one bottle has made so much improvement in my condition. I advise any one suffering from stomach trouble to try Tanlac and they will be as pleased as I am with the results."

"I was troubled for a long time with terrible pains in my stomach, after a meal my stomach was all upset and I suffered worse at this time with the pains. My appetite was very bad, I could eat hardly a thing and what I ate did not taste palatable, and greasy foods especially made me sick almost immediately."

"I saw Tanlac advertised here in the daily papers with such splendid endorsements attached, I wanted to try some, and I am glad I had the inclination to do so, as my stomach feels a great deal better. The pains are greatly relieved and I feel better in my body as well since taking this one bottle of Tanlac."

"I am very fond of hunting, but have been afraid to go very often on account of the terrible attacks of pain in my stomach, but I went hunting yesterday and no pains showed themselves all day long, much to my joy."

Mr. Smith is a very quiet, unassuming man, well liked by all he comes in contact with, and is proprietor of a restaurant. He seemed very glad of the opportunity to tell Mr. Henderson of the benefit Tanlac had been to him.

Tanlac can be obtained here only from C. A. Begun's Drug Store, where Mr. Henderson will be glad to meet you and tell you more about Tanlac.

Tanlac can also be obtained from Geo. H. Seidel at Sparta.

until it was discovered that the "ghost" was no other than Mr. F.
W. Brettnall. Halloween refreshments were served, among which was a cake containing a thimble, a ring and a penny, and great was the excitement to see who received the tokens.

MARRIED AT WINONA
Miss Vera Beardsley, daughter of Mrs. Ella Beardsley, 820 Jackson street, and Ross S. Jewett, of Mason city, Iowa, were united in marriage at Winona Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Hageman, pastor of the Winona Baptist church. They were accompanied by Miss Gertrude Clemens and Paul Redpath. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett left Winona Saturday evening for a visit with relatives and friends at St.
Paul and Minnesota and in two weeks' time will be at home at Mason city, where Mr. Jewett is engaged in the automobile business.

AFTERNOON COMPANY
Mrs. Edward C. Aiken was hostess to a party of friends at a Halloween party at her home, 322 North Eleventh street. Her guests included the Mesdames Harry Redmond, Charles Heffling, Jr., Laurie C. Welch, Jacobson and Clarence Gibson and Miss Minnie Erlick.

BAGGAGEMAN HITS AND DITCHES THE AUTO OF FARMER

Returning in his automobile from a turkey raffle on the Mormon coulee road at 6:15 Sunday evening, J. C. Hopkins, baggageman at the Hotel Stoddard, collided with an automobile driven by a farmer at a point about four miles from the city.

The farmer's car was hurled into a ditch at the side of the road and both machines were badly damaged. No one was injured. Hopkins says he was on the right hand side of the road. The farmer said he was blinded by Hopkins' headlights.

Friends who were following Hopkins in another machine brought him to the city.

ALLEGED DECEIT OF WILSON BARED BY H. C. LODGE

SOMMERVILLE, Mass., Oct. 30.—The assertion that President Wilson included in the second Lusitania note sent to Germany and afterward withdrew a postscript informing the German government that the contents of his previous note were not to be interpreted too seriously, was reiterated by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in a political address here Saturday night. The senator added to his statement the announcement that information on the subject had come to him in a letter from Dr. Charles H. Bailey of the Tufts Medical school, in which Henry Breckenridge, formerly assistant secretary of war, was quoted as authority for the story of the alleged postscript.

Senator Lodge reviewed the sending of the Lusitania notes and the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan.

Strange Feature of Note

He continued: "There was one feature about which there was much speculation at the time and that was why Mr. Bryan allowed his name to be appended to a very strong note couched in the most extreme language possible of diplomacy and yet resigned so that he need not affix his signature to the very mild note of June 9, a note which even a man of very strong pacifist tendency could not have objected to."

CHARTER TINKERS MEET
A meeting of the Charter Revision committee of the city council was called Monday for Tuesday evening. It will be held at 8:30 in the office of City Attorney J. E. Higbee.

Old Looks?

(BY DR. V. M. PIERCE)

Persons suffering from too much uric acid in their system frequently look older than they should. They age faster and the appearance of gray hair or baldhead in early years is, indeed, often a sign of uric acid. The face appears lean and haggard. Lines and wrinkles appearing in young men or women.

The best way to combat this premature age and the obstruction to the arteries and faulty circulation is of the simplest: Drink plenty and copiously of pure water between meals. This will not make you fat, as it is only the water taken with the meals that fattens. Obtain at any drug store a small package of anuric; which is to be taken before meals, in order to expel the uric acid from the system. The painful effects of backache, lumbago, rheumatism, gout, due to uric acid in the blood should quickly disappear after treatment with anuric.

SHOOTERS' CLUB ON ISLAND BURNS IN PECULIAR FIRE

Fire of mysterious origin late Saturday night and early Sunday morning completely destroyed the clubhouse of the Sharpshooters' Park corporation in West La Crosse. Loss to the building is estimated at $2,000 while furniture valued at several hundred dollars was destroyed.

When the flames ate their way through and through the two story structure they took with them two objects of veneration—two silk flags bought by the old La Crosse Sharpshooters' club back in the '70's. One was a club banner with the club design, carried on numerous occasions in scores of parades.

The other was a Stars and Stripes, which since the early days of the club hung on the walls of the clubhouse.

The fire could have been started in two ways, members of the club point out. It could have been fired purposely, or it might have been set ablaze by fire left behind by a tramp.

Sol Burdick, of the La Crosse Sharpshooters' Corporation, on Monday could find no grounds for entertaining either theory. If incendiary, he said, he could assign no reason. As for a tramp gaining entrance to the building and accidentally setting the building ablaze, he said he had visited the building only recently and left it with all doors securely locked.

The building was built in the early days of the old Sharpshooters' club, a portion of an old French Island schoolhouse being used. It was used regularly until a few years ago, when the club died.

BUSY WEEK IS OUTLINED FOR COUNTY ORATORS

Democratic speakers will invade all section of the county this week in the final drive of the campaign, starting Monday night with speeches at Mindoro Town Hall, Amsterdam school house and Kieselbach hall on the north side. The speakers who will appear are A. C. Wolfe, C. L. Hood, R. W. Davis, A. H. Schubert, C. A. Dittman, Paul Mahoney, and Mayor A. A. Bentley.

Tuesday meetings will be held at Rockland, and at Union Hall. The speakers are J. H. Carnahan of Black River Falls, Mahoney, Bentley Davis, Hood and Dittman.

Burns Hall and the Ten Mile House are the scenes of Wednesday evening meetings, to be addressed by Joseph Boschert, A. C. Wolfe, Dittman, Davis, Hood, and Schubert.

Seiler's Hall in State Road Coulee will be visited Thursday by a party including Messrs. Boschert, Wolfe, Davis and Hood.

BRINDLEY TO TALK AT SOCIAL IN ONALASKA CHURCH

ONALASKA, Wis.—(Special.)—The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church will meet Thursday afternoon. The following ladies will act as serving committee: Mesdames A. S. Gilbert, Erwin Comeau, Lester Gould, Ezra Gould, I. E. Green and Clarissa Kellogg.

Brindley to Talk
The official board of the Methodist church will give an annual social Monday evening. The members of the church and all its friends are urged to be present. Judge Brindley of La Crosse will give an address.

First Club Meeting
The first meeting of the Castalia Literary society will be held in the high school assembly room Monday evening.

First Lecture Number
A good crowd was present in spite of the threatening weather at the first number of Onalaska's lecture course Saturday evening. The Chicago Entertainers were present to give a very interesting program.

Party Is Success
The girls' Halloween party given at Woodmen hall Friday evening was a great success.

"Aggie" Party
A Halloween party will be given at the agricultural school Tuesday evening.

The county agricultural school and high school were closed Friday to allow the teachers to attend the western Wisconsin teachers' convention at La Crosse Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pinkerton and child of Atikopen, Canada, arrived here last week for an extended visit with the latter's mother, Mrs. M. L. Gedney. At present they are visiting relatives at Prairie du Chien.

Cedric Peterson returned home Wednesday from St. Francis hospital where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

The Masonic hall is being repainted both inside and out. Mr. Ben Haby of this city is doing the work. Agnes Gjestvang is visiting relatives at Minneapolis.

LT. A. A. FIX IS BACK FROM LINE

TOMAH, Wis., Oct. 30.—Lieut. A. A. Fix, of the Supply company, Third Wisconsin infantry, returned from Camp Wilson, Texas, to this city on Monday morning. Owing to the fact that danger of actual war was past, and because of pressing business demands at home, Lieutenant Fix tendered his resignation to the war department. The resignation was accepted, and he left San Antonio on Friday night.

TOMAH WINS EASY VICTORY OVER THE BARABOO WARRIORS

TOMAH, Wis.—(Special.)—The football game between Tomah high school and Baraboo Saturday resulted in an easy victory for Tomah, the score being 27 to 6.

The first three quarters the Tomah team was made up largely of second team men, the first team going into play only during the last quarter, in which two touchdowns were made, and a minute's more time would have given another.

Very few of Tomah's best plays were used, these being saved for the Sparta game here next Saturday. The Sparta coach and most of the team, including many others, attended the game here Saturday. Mr. Hasset of La Crosse high school, formerly of Tomah, refereed the game.

ESCAPES FIRE TRAP

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Coroner Peter M. Hoffman of Cook county, his wife and three daughters narrowly escaped being trapped by fire in home at Desplaines before daybreak Monday. Fire broke out in the roof and spread to the second floor where the family was sleeping before neighbors discovered it, arousing the family and calling a volunteer fire fighting crew. The family escaped scantily clad.

Has He Kept Us Out of War?

"HE KEPT us out of war" is offered by the Democratic Party as a statement of a supreme accomplishment. That slogan is false. To accept it without thought or reason is dangerous to the life of the nation.

For months we have been conducting a border war with Mexico. At Vera Cruz we demanded that our flag be saluted. The demand was refused. We landed troops; a battle followed. We withdrew without the salute, bringing nineteen of our dead with us and leaving our honor behind; and to this day the salute demanded has not been fired.

The weakness of Mexico, not the strength of the United States, is all that has prevented our act of war from being turned into the serious fact of war.

If the slaughter of American citizens—men, women and children—by armed troops, if the killing of American soldiers by the soldiers of another nation, if the sacking of our towns is not war, what is it?

The Judge Advocate General of our army says it is war. The Mexicans say it is war. Wilson's acts show it is war, but Wilson's voice says it is peace.

The Truth is that it is more than war. It is war without honor and murder without reparation. It is a condition that makes every true citizen ashamed of the spectacle we have become in the eyes of other nations.

Wilson's course vitalized civil war in Mexico and border war with us. The vacillating and irresolute policy of the present administration has brought humiliation upon this country, both at home and abroad.

We have been at war; we are now at war; many lives have been lost; our honor has been besmirched, and yet the Democratic Party cries to the nation "He kept us out of war," "He has protected me and mine." The fact is that he has neglected our greatest treasures—the lives of our citizens and the honor of our country.

It is the world war in Europe, not the acts of the Wilson administration, which has kept us out of international complications that would have sorely tried our courage, and our strength.

Just prior to the outbreak of the war there was forming a combination of European nations to demand of us that we stop the disorder in Mexico, to demand protection of the lives and vast property of European citizens in Mexico, to declare that these European nations would give protection by force of arms if we did not.

What would that have meant? It would have meant that we must adopt a determined policy to enforce order in Mexico, which was the only duty consistent with the stewardship which we assumed under the Monroe Doctrine; or it would have meant war or the surrender of the Monroe Doctrine.

It was the accident of war in Europe which then prevented retribution for the policies of the administration in Mexico.

When the war is over those nations will again press their claims and we will face the consequences of the Wilson policy of watchful waiting.

Have we sunk so low that we can approve such a policy? Have we become so morally flabby that we will tolerate its continuance?

This administration has created war. It has created causes for future serious international friction.

Notes and words and shades of meaning born of rhetoric rather than straightforward patriotic sincerity, have marked the course of our relations with foreign nations.

Force of character, a fair and honorable course, would have closed the debate which facility of language kept open. Force of character would have stopped murder on the high sea.

Does the low estate into which we have fallen among nations make a foundation upon which to build prestige for this country or safety and moral stamina for our children?

It is our tradition to honorably keep out of war but not to spinelessly creep into war.

Mr. Wilson has not kept us out of war. Mr. Wilson has put us into war.

Mr. Wilson is making war upon the moral fiber of this nation.

"A Nation Which Does Not Protect Its Own Citizens Has Already Begun to Die."

TREMPLO MOUNTAIN IS GIFT OF WINONA MAN TO WISCONSIN

Trempealeau mountain, both scenically and historically one of the most interesting points in the upper Mississippi valley, will shortly be donated to the state of Wisconsin to be dedicated forever to the enjoyment of the public as a state park. For a long time certain historians, notably Dr. E. D. Pierce of Trempealeau, have been laboring to secure this property for the public. The state historical society, of Madison, has co-operated with Dr. Pierce and has afforded the needed publicity by publishing in its annual volumes of proceedings his numerous local historical contributions. In the past twelve years, Dr. Pierce has written and the society has published no less than six valuable historical studies. These articles attracted the attention of John A. Latsch, a prominent citizen of Winona, Minn. So when approached by Dr. Pierce to learn what he would do toward preserving the mountain as a park he answered:

Commission Takes Charge

"I'll buy it and make the county or state a present of it."

For the past several months Mr. Latsch has been engaged acquiring title to the several parcels of land into which Trempealeau mountain had been divided. While the work was under way, Dr. Pierce decided, with the approval of Mr. Latsch, to present the property to the Wisconsin historical society. Instead of accepting it, Superintendent M. M. Quail represented to the donors that the historical society is not organized to administer properly such a trust, and advised turning the proposed park over to the state conservative commission, which is already charged with the administration of the existing park system. When the matter was laid before Commissioner F. B. Meedy, he expressed his enthusiastic approval of the project and assured Superintendent Quail that the commission would gladly accept, on behalf of the state, the historians' proposed donation of a new state park. The acquisition of title to the several parcels of real estate involved is now practically completed.

Named by Winnebago

The interest which attaches to Trempealeau mountain extends even to the origin of its sonorous name. "Hay-nee-ah-eh-ah," or "Soaking Mountain" it was called by the Winnebago, long before the white man first viewed the Father of Waters. The early French voyagers adopted the native designation for the mountain, but in their language it was expressed as "La Montagne qui Trempt dans l'eau"—the mountain that steeps itself in the water. The Trempealeau of the present time is, of course, but an anglicized corruption of the latter part of the picturesque French designation. The appropriation of the name will hardly be questioned by anyone who has voyaged on the Upper Mississippi and seen from the deck of his boat a lofty crest of the noble peak towering as if from mid-stream above him, its base laved with the limpid current of the mighty river.

The first white man to view Mount Trempealeau was Father Louis Hennepin, explorer of the Mississippi in 1680. Five years later Nicholas Perrot, noted trader and explorer of the French regime, going to build a post among the Sioux Indians was overtaken by bad weather near this site; accordingly his party "found a place where there was timber which served them for building a fort, and they took up their quarters at the foot of a mountain, behind which was a great prairie, abounding in wild beasts."

Here at the foot of Trempealeau mountain, the hardy Frenchman wintered, removing in the spring of 1685 to a site on Lake Pepin, where they built Fort St. Antoine, made peace with the formidable Sioux, and in 1689, with great ceremony planted the royal arms of Louis XIV, "grand monarch" of France, and in his name took possession of all the land drained by the waters of the upper Mississippi.

Thereafter, for many years, French officers and traders trekked freely up and down the great river, past its "sneaking mountain" and "its prairie abounding in wild beasts." In 1731 the French government sent Rene Godefroy, sieur de Lincot, to take command of the upper river.

At the site of Perrot's wintering post of forty-six years before, he built a fort and tarried several years. It was a hard and precarious existence which the tiny French garrison led, surrounded by Sioux, Roynards, and Winnebagoes, less tractable in many respects than the very beasts of the forests. Through all the weary years, a brave priest, Father Michael Guignas, shared the garrison's dangerous life. Finally in 1736 a new commander came out from Montreal and abandoning the site of Mount Trempealeau established a new post on Lake Pepin.

In recent years the state historical society and interested local historians have succeeded in locating the site of Perrot's post of 1685 and Lincot's fort of 1731-36. Several hearth stones were uncovered, one with a rude chimney, a blacksmith's forge was found, and many other relics of white occupation. Thus of the ten or more forts built by the French in Wisconsin, to Trempealeau belongs the distinction of possessing the only one whose ruins have been certainly identified.

Pioneers Mention It

All the early English and American explorers of the upper Mississippi—Garver, Pike, Cass, Long and the rest—comment interestingly in their journals upon the striking landmark, Trempealeau mountain. Before long under the auspices of the state historical society, the mountain will be formally tendered to the state to constitute a state park. Individually the principal credit for this desirable consummation belongs to Dr. Pierce and Mr. Latsch.

NOTICE OF GENERAL ELECTION

OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK.
La Crosse County, Wis., Oct. 30, 1916.

TO THE ELECTORS OF LA CROSSE COUNTY:

Notice is hereby given that a general election is to be held in the several towns, wards, villages, and election precincts in the county of La Crosse, on the seventh day of November, 1916, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to or filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(a) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence, will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk which must have indorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(b) If a voter wishes to vote for all the candidates nominated by any party he shall make a cross or other mark under the party designation printed at the top of the ballot in the circle made for that purpose. A ballot so marked and having no other mark will be counted for all the candidates of that party in the column underneath, unless the names of some of the candidates of the party have been erased or a name shall be written in or a cross mark be placed in the square at the right of the name or names of candidates in another column. If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates nominated by one party, he shall mark his ballot by making a cross or mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom he intends to vote, or by inserting or writing in the name of the candidate.

(c) A voter may vote for an entire group of candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the party column, or he may vote for the candidates for presidential electors by making a cross (X) or mark in the square at the right of the name of each candidate for elector for whom he wishes to vote. If a voter does not wish to vote for any one or more candidates for presidential electors in the group, he may erase the name of such candidate or candidates and may write in the space provided therefor, the name or names of the person or persons for whom he desires to vote, and the cross (X) or mark in the circle

(O) at the head of the party column shall count as a vote for each of the candidates in such column. If a voter does not wish to vote for any candidates for president or vice president or for any presidential electors, whose names appear upon the ballot, he may insert or write in the names of the candidates for president and vice president, and presidential electors to a number equal to the number of electors to be elected, in the appropriate spaces in the blank column at the right of the ballot.

(d) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memorandum to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(e) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place. (f) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion, as to such person's disability.

(g) The presidential ballot will be printed on light blue print paper and the state and county upon white print paper.

(h) The following is a facsimile of the official ballot:

OFFICIAL BALLOT

If you desire to vote an entire party ticket for state, congressional, legislative and county offices make a (X) or other mark in the circle (O) under the party designation at the head of the ballot. If you desire to vote for particular persons without regard to party, mark in the square at the right of the name of the candidate for whom you desire to vote if it be there, or write any name that you wish to vote for, in the proper place.

VIROQUA TO ENJOY BIGGEST MOVIE IN TOWN'S HISTORY

VIROQUA, Wis.—(Special.)—The "Birth of a Nation" will appear here daily, afternoon and evening, on November eighth and ninth.

Ben C. Brown has again taken over the management of the "Star," theater and will take possession on Monday night. Rube Maigetter's band orchestra will be here to furnish music. A big dance will follow at the Brown opera house.

Contest Nears End

The pony contest which has been conducted by the Felix store for the past months, will come to a close on Tuesday when the pony will be awarded to the boy or girl having the greatest number of votes.

Church News

There will be a public Halloween mask social at the Methodist church Tuesday night.

At the Congregational church at 7:30 Sunday night Rev. Stephens, leader of the Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls, will speak on: "Impressions Gleaned From Boy Scouts' and Campfire Girls' Hikes."

Daughter Born

Relatives and friends in the city have received announcements of the birth of a baby daughter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jitely Norris, formerly of this city, but now residents of West Salem.

Ben C. Brown was a business caller in Westby Thursday.

Local and Personal

Mrs. Will Nelson entertained a party of friends at her home Friday afternoon, most of them being members of the Lutheran church "wheel" division.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Atkins entertained friends at a six o'clock dinner Friday evening.

Mrs. J. P. Joyce of this city, was recently called to Minneapolis by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. Frank English.

Most of the grade teachers and Miss Georgia Welars of the high school attended the teachers convention held at La Crosse Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Erickson of Redstown were in the city Thursday for a short visit with friends.

Mr. Clarence Miller of Ontario, transacted business here Wednesday.

Miss Esther De Vorss of Seneca vicinity visited friends here Thursday enroute to La Crosse for a visit with relatives.

DEATH TAKES FRANK BAKALARS

Frank Bakalars, 314 Adams street, at one time a toll taker at the city wagon bridge, died Thursday at a local hospital of a complication of diseases after an illness of several weeks. He was 47 years of age.

He is survived by his widow and six children.

Funeral services will be held at 8:30 Tuesday at the home and at 9 o'clock at Holy Cross church. Burial will be in the Catholic cemetery.

Enormous Pressure in Twigs.

Along with the formation of the sugar, and caused in part by its accumulation, there develops within the minute cells of the blueberry plant enormous osmotic pressures, which enable the plant to push its buds open.

F. V. Coville writes in National Geographic Magazine. These pressures are frequently as high as seven atmospheres, or more than 100 pounds to the square inch—a pressure that would start a leak in a low-pressure steam engine.

The pressure may become as high as 30 atmospheres, or 450 pounds to the square inch—a force sufficient to blow the cylinder head off of a thousand horse power Corliss engine.

The reason the plant does not explode is because it is broken up into many extremely small and strongly built cells instead of having one big interior cavity. These minute chambers are often as thick-walled proportionately as an artillery shell.

To Remove Water Spots.

Take a piece of the same material as that spotted and dampen it in lukewarm water. Place on water spots on right side and press with a moderately warm iron. Press until both pressing cloth and material are dry. The spots will have disappeared.

Verse and Reverse

IN THE GLOAMING

Sweet are the thoughts that remain
When the heart's little flurry is over;
Fondly we live o'er again
Those moments made bright by another's blending.

Sweet is the face we recall
From the past when the twilight
Darkens the day—this is all
Of life that's worth while. In the
Of shadow and shine man is ever
A leaf in the wind, ever turning
His face to the sunshine yet never Overcoming his infinite yearning
For that which is gone. As the embers
Of fires glow from ashes half-hidden
So linked with the past one remembers
Too keenly the rose 'twas forbidden.
Thus I recall the flower
That beckoned yet bloomed for another.

Thus passes, at twilight, an hour
And the gloaming and dreaming are over.

—Floyd D. Raze.

The Remedy.

"Would you like some tonic on your hair?" asked the barber. "I've got something here that will positively stop it from coming out." "I don't believe it," said the man in the chair. "The only thing that will stop my hair from coming out is a divorce."

The act of forging doesn't always take away the power of memory.

Most Effective Remedy Mother Had Ever Used

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieves Baby When Other Medicines Failed.

There is nothing so necessary to a child's health and comfort as regularity of the bowels. All children are especially susceptible to stomach trouble and any overstrain of the sensitive organs has a tendency to obstruct elimination. This condition is responsible for much of the illness of childhood.

To relieve constipation a mild laxative should be employed. Cathartics and purgatives are violent in their action and should be avoided. Mrs. Alfred Du Bois, Mt. Holly, N. J., says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is without doubt the most effective remedy for constipation she has ever used and that it is the only remedy she could find for her baby. Little Earl was badly constipated during his first year and nothing she tried seemed to help him until she got a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Now he is a fine, strong, healthy boy, and she thanks Dr. Caldwell for it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiates or narcotic drugs; it acts gently without griping or other discomfort, and appeals to children because of its pleasant taste. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle, and every mother should have it in the house for use whenever occasion arises.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes always be sure to ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

THE HASKIN LETTER

The Growing West

"Mush-melons" are the Game-cocks and Chief Interest in Life of This Little Colorado Community.

IX—Old King Cantaloupe

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
ROCKY FORD, Colo., Oct. 30.

THE name of this town is synonymous with that of the cantaloupe. It is full of them, surrounded by them, dependent on them, proud of them. It has other features more or less unusual; it thrashes cucumbers like wheat, it has sugar-beet fields with consequent tariff and labor worries, it has something of a race problem in the shape of the thrifty Japanese; but above all Rocky Ford is the capital of King Cantaloupe, and its story is the story of the great drive of the cantaloupe on the American breakfast table.

Here men get excited over cantaloupes as they do in Cuba over game-cocks or in Kentucky over blooded horses. They evolve new breeds of cantaloupe and pause in the streets to argue their merits. A certain prodigality distinguishes the cantaloupe enthusiast. He will split twenty melons any time to prove his point.

The latest sensation is known as the "honey-dew," a new breed just on the market. The honey-dew is a large smooth specimen that has been selling for around sixty cents per capita retail and about $1.50 per melon when it is cut into slices and served in exclusive restaurants and dining cars. The honey-dew is an example of the way the melon-breeder will mix things when he gets started. It is a child of scattered parentage.

They crossed the South African casaba melon on a native Rocky Ford variety and crossed the result on a Californian casaba. The Rocky Ford in question was suspected of mixed parentage itself. So the honey-dew is a hybrid of parts, with the uncertain characteristics of a new development. The melon as it should be, and sometimes is, has a fine thick meat and a beautiful flavor. It has also a tendency to "throw back" to the qualities of some one of its many ancestors, when it may look and taste quite differently from what its proud planter expects. One man planted a number of seed, all taken from a single honey-dew melon. He got twelve different varieties of melons on vines grown from those seed. He even got different varieties on the same vine.

Such an incident is only a detail in the great game of raising cantaloupes. The grower, when he has a new variety that he considers a winner, simply picks out the specimens that show the characteristics of the father melon among the mixed children, and plants the seed of these. Each generation shows fewer sports and throw-backs than the last, until after a few years he has established a new type of cantaloupe. He can breed for almost any quality he wants—size, color of meat, size of seed-cavity or time of ripening. It is a fascinating game, especially when played in a district that ships 1500 carloads of melons in a season, where a popular new variety may mean a small fortune.

Practically every one of the popular melons that go to breakfast tables all over the country have been developed by carefully directed breeding. They are man-perfected products to a high degree. If a grapefruit is a lemon with a college education, the modern cantaloupe belongs in the class of the self-made man who worked his way through school; for some of the nationally famous varieties are direct descendants of single melons—single specimens that stood out from among their brethren on the vine by reason of desirable characteristics, and were selected to become the founders of new families. This method of selection is a commoner way of producing new varieties than is the artificial crossing of types which produced the honey-dew.

Here in Rocky Ford the cantaloupe business had its real beginning as a national industry. It was here that the first melons that were fit to be shipped long distances were produced in numbers. The particular quality that made them widely marketable was neither quality nor flavor primarily—it was their small and uniform size, that made them a good eating proposition. Given this quality, which implied a commodity that it was possible to pack and transport, the breeder then added on the fancy touches of flavor. But the Rocky Ford varieties put the melon business on a national basis because they could be crated and shipped almost anywhere on a large scale. They gave the cantaloupe districts the whole country as a market.

This term "Rocky Ford" is at present surrounded by considerable confusion and ambiguity, and has been the subject of a court decision. As the situation stands, a melon may be raised in Rocky Ford and not be a Rocky Ford melon, while a Rocky Ford melon may come from California or Florida. This is because the name Rocky Ford applies to both a district in the state of Colorado, and also to several varieties of cantaloupe. Local growers objected to having the name of their city applied to melons raised elsewhere, even though the melons in question were raised from Rocky Ford seed. The court did not sustain them, however; holding that the name could rightly be applied to the Rocky Ford varieties no matter where they were raised.

One of the points that makes the Rocky Ford varieties popular with all sorts of growers is the fact that they ripen early. They are raised in high mountain country, where the growing season is comparatively short, and nature is inclined to hurry the fruit along to maturity. Incidentally, this means that it is likely to hit the market while prices are high.

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

In this cantaloupe game, the big prizes go to the man who gets there first. There is generally a wild scramble in the early days of the season to reach the markets. The first few cars always command a stiff premium. Hence the early-ripening species are eagerly sought by growers, sometimes even at the expense of quality and flavor.

In fact, in most cases where you sit down before an attractive and expensive melon, and raise a spoonful of what tastes like selected laundry soap to your mouth, you are the victim of some misguided grower's eagerness to get a share of the high prices that reward early marketing. There is a certain point that comes but once in the life of every cantaloupe when it is exactly right to pick. This point is known as the "slip," and is recognized by the way in which the melon parts company with its parent vine, gently but cleanly. Picking in advance of this time is called "forcing the slip" and is a most iniquitous practice. It necessitates tearing the melon from its stem, and the melon repenges itself by tasting like the quintessence of nothing at all.

It is only to be expected that certain growers will "force the slip" in spite of everything that can be done to stop them, when the difference of a few days' time in shipping means a difference of hundreds of dollars in the price secured for a field. In California they have state inspectors whose duty is to see that the melons are not pulled prematurely, and they plan to do something of the sort in Colorado. The most reputable growers, of course, are careful in their picking, because any other policy is short-sighted. It hurts the reputation of a district. None the less, growers have been known to admit, regretfully but as if speaking of the inevitable, that early in the season they ship thousands of melons that are not fit to eat. There is a local tendency to blame a good share of this practice on the Japanese, who have gotten a great hold on the melon business. The Japanese as usual say nothing, and go about their own affairs and prosper exceedingly, so it is hard to say in how far the charges are justified.

The cantaloupe industry has had a spectacular rise in importance. There are men here still comparatively young who remember when Rocky Ford broke the markets of the nation with forty carloads of melons. Now they ship 1200 to 1500 cars in a season from this district alone, and the industry is immensely important in California and other sections. It is a highly specialized branch of farming, and the perishable nature of the product, the problems of picking and packing, the high prices that reward the man who gets on the market early, the possibilities that lie in the development of new types combine to give it a touch of adventure and hazard that most farming lacks.

PEACE DEPENDENT ON SELF-RESPECT, HE SAYS

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 30.—"We shall have no peace nor security unless we maintain our self-respect," Nominee Hughes told an audience in the Opera house here Saturday.

The republican candidate reiterated his previous views on Americanism, the tariff and democratic prosperity arguments.

GOOD ROADS BANQUET

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some La Crosse People Know How to Save It

Many La Crosse people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a La Crosse citizen's recommendation.

Miss Georgia Brown, 1402 Jackson St. La Crosse, says: "I had cutting backaches and pains that shot all through me. I also suffered from hard, dull headaches and I felt all run down. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me fine relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SANTA ROSALIA IN VILLISTAS' HANDS, REPORT

Reports to State Department Agents Say Town Was Taken Saturday with Little Bloodshed

BANDITS' ACTIVITIES WIDE
Villistas Moving on Parral and Jimenez. It Is Claimed; Bandits Active in Sonora State

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 30.—The town of Santa Rosalia, about eight miles south of Chihuahua City, was in the hands of Villista bandits on Monday, while the main force of Villistas, on three trains, was moving southward toward Jimenez and Parral, according to reports made Monday to United States state department agents and to mining company representatives here. The occupation of the town took place Saturday with little bloodshed.

As the Villistas approached Santa Rosalia part of the garrison fled to the hills. The others fired a few shots at the bandits and followed. Colonel Fernandez commanded the Villistas, reports in Juarez stated. Leaving a small occupation force in Santa Rosalia, the main body of Villistas marched south of the point where the railway was cut and, boarding three captured trains, pulled out for the south, according to details received by the Santa Rosalia Springs company, an American owned company with offices here.

Expect Attack in Jimenez
Military men here expect an attack upon Jimenez within a short time. The garrison there numbers several thousand de facto government troops under command of the Arrieta brothers.

The important town of Parral has a heavy Carranzista garrison under General Luis Herrera, a former Villista general, who accepted amnesty from the de facto government. Villistas has promised to capture Parral and execute Herrera with his own hands.

Revolutionists are becoming more active in the state of Sonora. General P. Elias Calles, military governor of that state, here on his way to Mexico City for a conference with First Chief Carranza, narrowly escaped death when the train on which he was a passenger passed over a dynamite bomb, on its way to the border. A freight train following the passenger train was blown up.

Arrest American Negroes
Two American negroes, now being held in Juarez jail following their arrest by a Carranzista patrol, will be sent to Chihuahua City for trial. They were made prisoners by the Carranzistas late yesterday, eight miles south of here. United States state department officials are investigating the affair. The prisoners claim they were shooting rabbits and when the Carranzistas opened fire they fled to an adobe house. The Mexicans followed, overpowered and robbed them and carried them into Juarez.

Mexican de facto officials declare the negroes were firing on the patrol.

GETS LIFE FOR KILLING RIVAL

CHARLESTON, Ill., Oct. 30.—Ernest Roy Smith, 27, a musician, was found guilty Saturday of the murder of Delmar Hill, a rival for the affections of Miss Mayme Hammack, and sentenced to life imprisonment, thus culminating eastern Illinois' strangest murder case.

The state introduced testimony tending to show Smith hatched a plot whereby he was to kill Miss Hammack, Hill and then himself.

RAISE SHOP WAGES

DENISON, Texas, Oct. 30.—Business agents representing the five shop crafts, announced that 1,500 men employed in the mechanical departments of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad had been granted an increase in pay and an adjustment of wage scales dating back to August. The total annual increase will amount to more than $100,000 with back pay of over $10,000.

ANOTHER SUBWAY BOMB

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The third explosion on surface car lines in a week on the West side occurred shortly before midnight Thursday in West Broadway, driving the one woman passenger from a car in a panic.

An unexploded piece of dynamite was found beside the tracks.

ALLEGED CHARGES BY LUIS CABRERA TO BE DISAVOWED

Arredondo Expected to Patch Up Serious Situation After Alleged Charge U. S. Aids De Facto Enemies

TO REPUDIATE ARTICLES
Interviews to Be Published in Current Outlook Also Expected to Draw Disavowal of Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Appearance at the state department of Mexican Ambassador Arredondo to repudiate criticisms of the United States attributed to high officials of the Carranza government, expected to close an incident which threatened to be very troublesome, failed to materialize at the Mexican embassy. It was said Arredondo was ill.

Acceptance of such repudiation was assured in advance by state department officials. It was expected to cover a formal statement supposed to have been issued Saturday by Luis Cabrera, Carranza's minister of finance, and criticisms contained in the Outlook Magazine. The latter interviews quote Carranza himself, General Pablo Gonzales, General Obregon and Candido Aguilar, secretary of foreign affairs.

Cabrera and Ambassador Arredondo discussed by telephone Sunday the statement credited to the former. Arredondo then announced that a very mild criticism of the United States government's failure to prevent ammunition reaching Villa, expressed by Cabrera in conversation with George F. Edmunds, an employee of the "Mexican News Bureau," had been made the basis of the violent charges embodied in the Outlook magazine. The head of the bureau, George F. Weeks, wired Cabrera disclaiming responsibility for the action.

As for the magazine article, the embassy, and the Carranza government with advance information of the article's contents, have exchanged messages on the subject, and the ambassador has been authorized to repudiate the interviews in advance. "The public should be warned," said Arredondo, "that many false statements have appeared and will continue to be published by enemies of the de facto government whose purpose is to bring about intervention and armed conflict between the United States and Mexico."

WM. NAVROTZKE DEAD

William Navrotzke, aged 31, died Saturday of stomach trouble at the home of his mother, 1023 Mississippi street, after an illness of eighteen months. He was unmarried.

Surviving him beside his mother are four sisters, Mrs. Theodore Manowski, Breckenridge, Minn.; Mrs. Clark Kidd, Chicago; Mrs. Frank Kemmer, Madison, Wis., and Mrs. E. J. Swords, La Crosse.

Funeral will be held at 8:30 Tuesday from the home at 915 from St. Joseph's cathedral. Burial will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

$316,930.14 CONTRIBUTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Contributions to the republican congressional committee's campaign fund have totaled $316,930.14, according to the statement filed with the clerk of the house of representatives Saturday by former Senator N. R. Scott, treasurer of the committee. The contributions were from 2,075 persons, an average of $152.887 1-2, he said.

DOUBLE LIFE EXPOSED

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Leading an industrious and model life by day and playing a desperate holdup game at night, was the double life led by Elmer Carson, 19, dead Monday from a bullet fired by his pal, Jerry Suchardo, 18, in a holdup here. Carson was accidentally shot by Suchardo, who fired at their victim when he attempted to resist, Suchardo says.

With the arrest of Suchardo a string of seventy-five neatly executed "jobs" were solved.

WIFE'S ILLNESS WINS BAIL

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 30.—Admitted to bail when he plead his wife was dying at Scranton, Pa., Joseph Schmidt, I. W. W. agitator, charged with the murder of James Myron, deputy, in the Mesaba Iron Range strike, was rushing toward Scranton, Monday. Three messages tell of a son born to Schmidt, of the son's death and of his wife's serious condition, followed in rapid succession.

DAIRY SCHOOL NOV. 9

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—The dairy school at the university will open on Nov. 9. The two days previous will be registration days. About 115 have already sent in applications of registration, which is considered a normal advance over the attendance last year.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can Tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

VERDUN VETERANS WIN ON SOMME IS BERLIN STATEMENT

German War Office Claims the Capture of La Maisonette Farm and Positions on to Biaches

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Berlin and Brandenburg troops, famed for their fighting power at Verdun, launched one of the most violent counter attacks of the whole Somme battle against the French lines south of the Somme Sunday night.

The French war office admitted Monday afternoon that the Germans penetrated La Maisonette farm, west of Peronne, but claimed the repulse of other heavy attacks.

The German war office reported the capture of La Maisonette and all the French positions extending from the farm to Biaches, together with 412 prisoners. British gains in the fighting north of the river were admitted at Berlin.

French report
PARIS, Oct. 30.—French troops captured German trenches northwest of Sailly in a renewal of the attack north of the Somme Sunday night, reaching the outskirts of the strongly fortified church held by the Teutons. It was officially announced Monday.

South of the river the Germans attacked Biaches and Maisonette farm after a most intense bombardment. They were repulsed on a large part of the front but succeeded in penetrating Maisonette farm. On the Verdun front only artillery engagements were reported.

TAFT HITS ADMINISTRATION

MARSHALL, Mich., Oct. 30.—Spreading out the whole administration record here Monday, ex-President Taft preached that America's present prosperity is evanescent, attacked the Adamson eight-hour law, president's foreign policy, and his domestic course.

PURE RICH BLOOD PREVENTS DISEASE

Bad blood,—that is, blood that is impure or impoverished, thin and pale,—is responsible for more ailments than anything else. It affects every organ and function. In some cases it causes catarrh; in others, dyspepsia; in others, rheumatism; and in still others, weak, tired, languid feelings and worse troubles. It is responsible for run-down conditions, and is the most common cause of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the greatest purifier and enricher of the blood the world has ever known. It has been wonderfully successful in removing scrofula and other humors, increasing the red-blood corpuscles, and building up the whole system. Get it today.

Sixty-Yard Run In Last Sixty Seconds By Reget Saves Game

LA CROSSE KEEPS RECORD CLEAR IN EAU CLAIRE GAME

Northern Backs, Fearing Plunging, Tricked When Feinberg Passes Lucky Ball to Reget

MANY CHANCES ARE LOST

Red and Black Penalized Fifteen Yards in First Quarter with Ball on One Yard Line

"Hebby" Reget, fast little end of the La Crosse high school football team made a sensational run of 60 yards for the only touchdown of the La Crosse-Eau Claire high school game in the last thirty seconds of play, and Eau Claire was beaten 14 to 3.

And La Crosse kept her string of victories, extending back to 1914, unbroken.

It looked pretty black for La Crosse after Williams of Eau Claire had placed a drop kick between the goal posts from the twenty-five yard line and the handful of our men that made the trip were giving up hope of a third successive state championship. Then Bleakely was put out of play with a kick in the arm that prevented his passing the ball. La Crosse would have had to finish the game with ten men had it not been for the courtesy of Captain Olson of the Eau Claire team who allowed Liscovec to go back in although the fourth quarter was already started. An exchange of punts followed, which gave La Crosse the ball on her forty yard line. It was from here that Feinberg shot the pass to Reget that decided the outcome of the game and, possibly the championship.

Reget's run was not a fluke. It was La Crosse's never-say-die spirit.

coupled with brainy headwork, that was responsible. Feinberg knew there was very little time left and that a plunging game could not bring the ball down the field in time. He knew that the Eau Claire backs, in spite of the advice of their coach, were playing near the line to get a man on a line plunge. Reget did not rush blindly forward with the ball either. He waited for his interference to get started and then sprinted his way to the goal line with Brodie, the Eau Claire half back, a jump behind.

La Crosse deserved to win the game by at least two touchdowns. Three times they were within the Eau Claire ten yard line.

The first opportunity of La Crosse to score came in the first quarter when R. Blatter fell on a fumble on the white and purple's fifteen yard line.

Reget made five yards from kick formation and Layman made first down. Youngberg placed the ball to within one yard of the goal line but the gain was not allowed and La Crosse was penalized fifteen yards for holding. A pass, Reget to Layman netted twenty yards but the ground lost by the penalty could not be regained and McNabb punted out of danger.

The next chance for a touchdown came at the beginning of the second quarter when another pass, Feinberg to Youngberg, gained twenty yards. The ball was lost on a fumble. A third forward pass of twenty yards, this time to Argall, gave La Crosse her last chance to score in the first half but another pass was incomplete and went over the goal line. This gave the ball to Eau Claire on her twenty yard line. The half ended soon later.

Eau Claire Shows Relapse

In the third quarter Eau Claire showed signs of weakening. Their "pep" apparently was gone and the La Crosse backfield, with Pratt and Spettel, fresh men in, began to run rings around them. It looked as if La Crosse would register two or three touchdowns before the end of the game. But in the fourth quarter, Brodie was taken out in the first quarter on account of his bad knee, replaced Barret at halfback and he put new life into the tired Eau Claire team. Using a puzzling shift the white and purple carried the ball down to the La Crosse fifteen yard line, where as at Tomah Feinberg punted to the fifty yard line. From there the northerners, mixing passes with their shift plays, carried the ball to the twenty-five yard line. When they found that they could not gain through the line, William booted a drop kick between the posts. Feinberg punted after the kick off and Eau Claire punted back. McNabb was better on his kicks than in the first half. Early in the game he booted them high into the air so that the ends could get down under them as his distance averaged only about twenty yards it was the same as if La Crosse had run them back thirty yards each time.

On the next play regent made his wonderful run and Layman kicked goal in the absence of Bleakely.

Summary: Touchdown, Reget; field goal, Williams; goal from touchdown, Layman. Time of quarters, twelve and one half minutes.

Score by quarters: La Crosse 0 0 0 7—7 Eau Claire 0 0 0 0—0

BADGERS ELIMINATE MAROONS IN GREAT HOMECOMING GAME

Chicago Suffers Worst Defeat at Hands of Wisconsin Since 1910; Harvard System Wins

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—Wisconsin stayed in the conference race, Chicago was eliminated, and Coach Withington's Harvard system triumphed when the Badgers on Saturday administered to the Maroons their worst defeat since 1901 at the hands of a Wisconsin aggregation, 30 to 7.

It was done before a crowd of 17,000, a record for Camp Randall, a homecoming bunch which crowded off the field the rooting of the 1,500 Chicagoans who were up to boost for the Staggs.

Elder in 65-Yard Run Thrillers studied the game from the first yell. Among them Elder's run stands out as one of the greatest of the season. He was given the ball, standing on his own thirty-five yard line, and dodging numerous pitfalls, went over the goal line after having covered enough chalk lines to total up sixty-five yards.

This same Elder intercepted a forward pass again on his own thirty-five yard line, which eventually led up to another touchdown in the second period. Olson going over the line after having been helped by another forward pass.

Cards Take a Brace Chicago having almost halved Wisconsin's score in the third period, started out in the fourth as if bent on everlastingly putting the Cards out of it. The third period ended with the ball eight yards from the Badger's goal. After the switching of ends came the greatest exhibition of the day on the part of the Cards. Twice they held for downs within not only the shadow of the goal post, but, in fact, directly under the cross bar.

Maroons Fail by Six Inches Higgins grabbed a Badger fumble and dove in again. Parker and Hansch being the other two battering rams. All three failed, Hansch in the last desperate attempt failing to reach the coveted line by six inches.

It Was Wisconsin's Ball The desperate attempt of the Maroons apparently used up their reserve strength, wind and all, for the rest of the period the Badgers played rings around them. Olson nailed a high punt in Chicago territory and went across.

Simpson Pads Count

Simpson scored the last touchdown just before time was called. The lineup:

Chicago—Brelas, le; McPherson, lt; Bondinski, lg; Fisher, c; Higgins, rg; Jackson, rt; Parker, rb; Pershing, qb; Agar, lb; Schafer, rlb; Hansch, fb.

Wisconsin—Kelly, re; Koch, rt; Hancock, rg; Carpenter, c; Gray, lg; Viltzer, lt; Meyers, capt., le; Taylor qb; Elder, rlb; Olson, lb; Berg, rb. Substitutes—Wisconsin: Graper for Hancock; Kreuz for Berg; Kieckhefer for Hancock; Gueney for Cramer; Olson for Carpenter; Simpson for Elder; Gardner for Gray; Cramer for Kelley. Chicago: Graham for Schafer; Setzer for Agar; Marun for Hansch.

Chicago 0 0 7 0—7 Wisconsin 3 13 0 14—30 Touchdown—Elder, Olson, Hansch, Olson, Meyers. Goals from touchdowns—Hancock, Higgins, Simpson (2). Goal from field—Olson. Umpire—Reid, Michigan. Referee—Birch, Earlham. Field judge—Grady, Northwestern. Head linesman—Hutchins, Purdue. Time of periods—Fifteen minutes.

MILLER HEADS CITY BOWLERS

Bellrud of the Nelsons has been displaced by O. Miller of the S. and H. team as individual leader in the La Crosse Bowling league, according to figures announced Monday by Secretary J. G. Kobitz. Miller has an average of 199.

Miller also holds high score for three games with 680, besides holding high single game score of 267. Williams' Stars, the Nelsons and the S. and H. team are tied for first place with nine games won and three lost.

Credit. Credit is the prolific parent of extravagance, and the piper has been sharp enough to find it out. He suffers those who dance to pay him some other day, with the result that they dance a good deal more than they otherwise would. Often they dance more than they can afford, but that's nothing to the piper.—Life.

NORMAL DEFEATED; SPUITH ALLEGES RINGER, PROTESTS

Victory Over La Crosse First in History of the Schools; Southmen Clearly Outplayed

FINAL PUNCH IS LACKING

On Several Occasions La Crosse Had the Ball Within Scoring Distance But Lost It

For the first time in the history of the La Crosse state normal school Stevens Point normal scored on the La Crosse team and defeated them 14-2, scoring one touchdown in the second quarter after La Crosse had made a safety in the first, and the second in the last two minutes of play. With thirty seconds left and the never-say-die spirit of La Crosse still working, Roellig shot a pass to Grounds who ran fifty yards but was finally overtaken by Reynolds as the whistle sounded the death knell.

However, La Crosse is by no means out of the championship race. In the first place, Hogan, center, a literal bear in the line, and all-conference center last year, went to Stevens Point normal last year during the football season only and is doing the same thing this year. It is alleged, an act the conference rules directly guard against. Coach Sputh protested to the referee before the game began but the contest was played under protest. A ruling will be made by the conference authorities. Even without a protest, La Crosse still has a fighting chance to represent the northern section by a good win over River Falls, who defeated the Pointers 7-0. As Stevens Point had never beaten La Crosse, so La Crosse has never beaten River Falls but will make a last desperate attempt in two weeks at River Falls, following which Sputh and company will be placed in the southern section.

Lack Final Punch Old Grandad witnessed a great struggle but poor generalship on La Crosse's part at critical stages, their lack of weight and inability to deliver the goods after they had advanced the ball within scoring distance costing them the game.

"Red" Reynolds was by far the individual star of the hard fought contest. The brick-top half was the only man who could consistently gain but time and again he would shoot through the line for five, ten or fifteen yards.

Soup Out and In Although "Soup" Roellig's poor generalship in the first quarter directly led to the Point's first score, the local lad starred for his team. His quarterback runs featured La Crosse's gains and twice during the last part of the game he broke away from the Pointers for forty yard gains.

Open Game Used Little The open game was used very little by either side, straight football being the order of the day.

The La Crosse team was clearly outplayed but showed an admirable scrapping spirit to the last trench.

First Quarter

With a slight southerly breeze, Captain Scholberg chose to defend the north goal and kicked to Immell, who brought the ball to his own 40 yard line. Dean went around the right side for five and Captain Miller took three through center. In a play in which Roellig made two more around line ends, Benjamin was knocked out for the remainder of the game. Dean made two yards on two attempts and an incomplete pass gave the ball to Stevens Point. The game saw-sawed until Louis tackled Quarterback Egelberger behind the posts for a safety after a punt.

Score: La Crosse, 2; Stevens Point, 0.

Soon afterwards the quarter ended with the ball in the hands of the visitors on their 35 yard line.

Second Quarter

After holding on their 15 yard line La Crosse punted to their own 20 yard line. Again the Pointers were held but La Crosse was unable to work the ball out of dangerous territory, playing continually on the defense.

Hogan Goes Over

After working back and forth in La Crosse territory, Reynolds brought the ball to the 20 yard mark. On the next play he went for ten more. Captain Scholberg took the ball but fumbled and Hogan recovered behind the line for the first touchdown. Hogan kicked goal. Score: Stevens Point, 7; La Crosse, 2.

The ball shifted in the center of the field for the remainder of the period.

Third Quarter

After a snake dance between periods, La Crosse rooters were expecting a touchdown and a win. Miller carried the ball on the kickoff to his thirty-five yard mark. It wasn't long, however, until the ball was in local territory and Stevens Point punted behind the local goal, giving La Crosse the ball on their own 20 yard line.

La Crosse later got the ball on a punt and Grounds carried it to his 30 yard mark and La Crosse went steadily down the field, the throng howling for a score. Miller took two around left end and Dean made it first down. Roellig did some good dodging and went through the line for six more. Miller's gain made it first down. Dean failed to gain but the Pointers were penalized five for

HOLD MINNESOTA BIG NINE STARS

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Minnesota stands out as the most likely Big Nine team after its defeat of Iowa by a 67 to 0 score Saturday. Northwestern and Ohio State are still in the running technically, but are considered inferior to the wonderful Gopher machine.

Wisconsin's defeat of Chicago puts the Maroons hopelessly out as a factor in the Big Nine this season. The 30 to 7 score was more one-sided than was expected, although Wisconsin was given good odds.

MANY WANT FOHL'S JOB

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—James Dunn was sphinx-like here Monday on the subject of the managership of his Cleveland Indians next year. Rumors are that Lee Fohl will not be at the helm another season. While Dunn would say nothing about these reports, it was admitted that several well known baseball men are angling for Fohl's job. Among those said to have a good chance are George Stovall and Tris Speker. Dunn will reach a decision this week, he said here today.

The Ideal Way to California

Is the personally conducted way to California. Not only is it the most economical, but the comfortable and care-free way as well. There's no worry about baggage or other travel details, for our own special conductor goes all the way through, looking out for your comfort and explaining all about the points of interest as you pass along. Another advantage is that the schedules are so fixed that one passes all the best scenery in daylight.

The cheerful company of congenial people who go on these low fare parties adds greatly to the pleasure of the trip.

If you're planning to see California this winter, stop in the first time you are going by and get your copy of our folder telling about our personally conducted parties to California. I'll be glad to give you further information about rates, etc.
